NEW YORK HOTELS LEAD CANADIAN DOLLAR PAR MOVIE

Baldwin Urges Followers Elect MacDonald Ministry As Dominion Currency Rises In U.S. Two Large Hostelrys Ban Discount

Mr. Baldwin, President of Council, Issues Manifesto as Conservative Party Leader in Which He Calls on All His Followers to Support National Government at Polls October 27

Canadian Press
London, Oct. 8.—Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, leader of the Conservative Party and President of the Council in the MacDonald Ministry, this evening called on Conservatives to support the National Government in the general election, October 27.

The budget had been balanced and borrowing had been stopped, he said, but there still was one important task balancing the nation's trade account.

EXPORTS MUST INCREASE
"We are not yet earning enough to pay for what we have to buy abroad," he said in an election manifesto, "and unless this position can be altered nothing can save us from ultimate bankruptcy."

Mr. Baldwin's manifesto followed the general terms of the manifesto issued yesterday evening by Premier MacDonald.

LIBERAL STATEMENT
Sir Herbert Samuel, leader of the Liberal wing of the National Government, is issuing a third government manifesto, with particular reference to the Liberal campaign.

Canadian Press
London, Oct. 8.—The issues in the British general election are being clarified, Premier MacDonald's appeal for support of the National Government is before the people. Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, leader of the Conservative wing, and Sir Herbert Samuel, leader of the Liberal wing, will use their own manifestos this evening, following up that of the Prime Minister.

EDMONSON SPEAKS
The Labor party's stand is already defined—defined more clearly perhaps than that of the component parts of the National Government. Rt. Hon. (Concluded on Page 2)

EDISON'S VITALITY IS SURPRISE TO HIS PHYSICIAN

West-Orange, N.J., Oct. 8.—Thomas Edison spent a very restless night, it did not appear to be weaker today, according to Dr. Hubert S. Howe, physician.

Mr. Edison passed a very restless night, a bulletin issued this morning said. "He ate a fair breakfast and does not appear to be weaker than last night. His vitality is amazing."

PREDICTION
Dr. Howe said ordinarily he would be able to predict when a patient in Edison's condition would slip into coma preceding death. In the case of Mr. Edison, however, he said such a prediction was impossible.

Dr. Howe said although his examination had not revealed Mr. Edison was weaker today, still it was only a guess to suppose that in fact the inventor was constantly, if very gradually, weakening.

Wily Lloyd George Opposing MacDonald

London, Oct. 8.—The London Evening Standard today reported Major Gwilym Lloyd George, son of the Liberal leader, resigned as parliamentary secretary of the Board of Trade, describing his resignation as "indicating still further the rift" of Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George and the National Government.

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Oct. 8.—A Canadianist, which the Vancouver Board of Trade proposes to place on all goods shipped from this country to China, will be known as Hon. Herbert M. Marshall, Canadian Minister to Japan, when he arrives in Vancouver tomorrow. Mr. Marshall will sail from here for the Orient at 11 a.m. Saturday on board the liner Empress of Japan.

The label is the suggestion of the committee of the Board of Trade, of which C. A. Calkins is chairman. It was devised after a conference with Hon. H. H. Chow, Chinese consul-general in Canada, and a number of Chinese business men. It consists of a large maple leaf with the word "Canada" printed in large letters across it. Below the Chinese characters are the words "Produced in Canada."

Trans-Pacific Fliers In Auto Accident

TOKIO

Seattle, Oct. 8.—Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, trans-Pacific fliers, narrowly escaped serious injury today when the automobile bringing them here from Wenatchee, Wash., was crowded off the mountain highway and the car directly behind them overturned.

No one was injured in the second car, which rolled down a bank and landed right side up. The car carrying the fliers ploughed sixty feet through a ditch before it regained the road.

The accident occurred three miles east of North Bend on this side of Snoqualmie Pass, when a motorcycle policeman, waiting beside the road, moved into the caravan directly in front of the fliers' automobile. The aviators' chauffeur swung off to the right into the ditch to avoid striking the motorcycleist, Patrolman Earl Henry.

STEWART TRIAL WENT TO JURY THIS MORNING

Mr. Justice Murphy Instructed Jurors on Law of Inciting to Mutiny

Character of Leaflet Distributed Main Factor in Charge, Judge Shows

The jury trying Ronald C. Stewart in the Assize Court retired this morning shortly before noon, after Mr. Justice-Denis Murphy had instructed them as to the law, had stressed their responsibility as to the facts and given instructions to disregard many of the statements made by the accused in the course of examination of witnesses and his address to the jury.

Addressing the jury his lordship read the statute under which the charge was laid, and said the first element to be proved was that the accused endeavored to incite to mutiny any member of His Majesty's forces serving by sea or land. That charge did not require success must follow the attempt.

The second element was that the endeavor must be done with a traitorous or mutinous purpose. The distinction was that mutinous purpose involved at least two persons. The endeavor need not be made to be, but the intention must be that the soldier was to be used for a mutinous purpose.

MEANING OF MUTINY
"Mutiny does not mean causing a riot in barracks or anywhere else. It means insubordination, that may be passive. If the endeavor to stir up mutiny was for the purpose of seducing men to disobey lawful orders of their officers, that portion of the charge is made out. His lordship instructed the jurors.

He then explained that if the prisoner had endeavored to seduce an individual soldier from his duty, with the purpose that that soldier would refuse the lawful orders of his superior officer, that constituted a traitorous purpose.

"There have been a great number of extraneous matters introduced during this trial, but the law on issue is really very simple, just the two points I have recited to you," his lordship said, explaining that in the second count of the charge the principle was the same, not that the accused did stir up or incite to mutinous practice, but that he endeavored to do so. His lordship said, "Regarding certain statements made to you yesterday by the accused it is my duty to warn you to disregard them. You must deal with facts, sworn to in evidence before you. For instance you were told that similar matter to that of the leaflet was available in the public library. That was not proven." His lordship reiterated the importance of intent to incite to traitorous or mutinous purpose.

FIRST ROUND TO CHIROPRACTORS

Doctors' Demands For Change in Royal Commission Refused By Government

With cabinet members stating there was no prospect of the royal commission under Mr. Justice Murphy being altered to satisfy the demands of the doctors for a "wider open" investigation into chiropractic and drugless healing, chiropractors have apparently won the first round in their argument with the B.C. Medical Board.

At the beginning of the week a delegation representing the B.C. Medical Association waited on the government demanding that the chiropractors be put on the stand for testimony and cross-examination, and were told the petition would be given consideration.

Government spokesmen now say the commission is considered broad enough in its present form. The question that is now of great interest to both sides is just what the scope of the commission's inquiry will be. If the medical men manage to secure an investigation into the value of chiropractic as a healing process, the chiropractors threaten to withdraw on the grounds that their profession is a body recognized by B.C. law, and should therefore not be subject to investigation.

Apart from this aspect of the question, another point to be pressed by the doctors is whether chiropractors in practice have complied with a subsection of the Medical Act, which states that all chiropractors must face a board of examiners on which three doctors sit.

On the other side, plain notice has been served on the President he will find difficulty ahead in Congress if he agrees to an extension not coupled with a definite European agreement to scale down armaments. That may be hard to get.

"We have been conducting examinations in Australia and incidentally have been doing our part in cementing friendly relations between the Royal College of Surgeons and corresponding institutions in the Commonwealth and New Zealand," said Professor George A. Buckmaster, G.A., M.B., who to-day reached Victoria with Professor William Wright, F.R.C.S., Eng., M.B., Ch.B., aboard the motor liner Ararat from the South Seas.

The two distinguished London professors, who stand among the highest in their profession, were met at the Ritz Hotel early this afternoon by Dr. Herman M. Robertson and Dr. W. M. Mitchell and welcomed on behalf of the Victoria Medical Society.

At a dinner to be given at the Empress Hotel in their honor to-morrow evening by the Victoria Medical Society, with Dr. J. H. Moore, president, in the chair, Prof. Buckmaster will give an address on "Physiology," and Prof. Wright will speak on anatomical subjects.

POLITICS AND HORSE-RACING
In a brief review of general conditions in Australia, Prof. Buckmaster told a Times reporter aboard the ship today that the chief industries of the commonwealth appeared to be politics and horse-racing.

Financially, he observed, the country was in chaos, although he disliked the word. (Concluded on Page 2)

INDIANS RUSH TO WORK GOLD CLAIMS IN ALBERTA HILLS

Canadian Press
Calgary, Oct. 8.—Gold discoveries northwest of the Morley Indian Reserve have shed some light on the mysterious trips of an aged prospector of Calgary who died without revealing the source of his wealth. Yesterday twenty-five Indians from the reserve sped into Calgary in automobiles to file gold claims at the government office. They said they would begin working claims fifty miles northwest of Morley, which is fifty miles west-northwest of here.

The Indian prospector recalled Calgary's mysterious prospector. Few knew the aged gold-seeker's name, but his reticence was well known. Each spring the veteran would journey to Cochrane or Morley, hire a pack horse and head north. A few months later he would return, little sacks of gold burdened his pack horse. It was said the average return for the prospector's

Canadian Press
New York, Oct. 8.—Two of the largest hotels in New York to-day announced they would accept Canadian money at par value, despite its depressed condition on the foreign exchange markets in the United States.

The announcement said the two hotels had accepted Canadian money at par even during the days immediately after the Great War, and would continue to do so, regardless of the money's worth in United States funds. After losing 1/4 cent at the opening to-day, the Canadian dollar strengthened 1/2 cent at noon to 89 1/2 on the local foreign exchange market. This represented a discount rate of 10 1/2 per cent, compared with 11 1/2 per cent at the opening.

The dollar is higher than it was a week ago. Last Friday it was 87 1/2 cents. Tuesday of this week it was 89.

ST. LOUIS TO TENDER MARTIN GREAT OVATION

Home Town Supporters Plan Great Reception For "Pepper" Star of Series

Earnshaw and Grimes May Start on Mound in Sixth Game To-morrow

St. Louis, Oct. 8.—This city is baseball mad today. The world's series, with "Pepper" Martin as the bright light, is the talk of the town and thousands of fans are anxiously awaiting to-morrow, when the sixth game of the world series between the St. Louis Cardinals and Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics will be played. The fans are prepared to give "Pepper" one of the greatest ovations any ball player ever received.

To-day Martin can have pretty nearly anything in St. Louis heart desires. He has become internationally famous in a week, and everyone is wondering what he will do to-morrow. If he keeps up his remarkable hitting and base running he will set several new records.

Although the weather was cloudy to-day the weatherman forecasted a fine day for the sixth game. In the meantime the Cards and Athletics were speeding towards this city on their special trains, both teams being due to arrive here late this afternoon.

The pitching prospects for to-morrow are Grimes or Derringer for St. Louis and Earnshaw for Philadelphia. Mack may decide to use "Lefty" Grove, but it is more than likely Earnshaw will receive the call with Grove held in readiness. Manager Street may decide to gamble with Grimes, who defeated the A's in the third game of the series.

Although one game down, the Athletics are confident in the world title. They figure Earnshaw a cinch to beat the Cards to-morrow and he may start in the seventh and final game if successful in tying up the series. Confidence supreme reigns in the Cards' camp with Martin the centre of everything. He is being idolized by his teammates, who consider him the sparkplug of their attack.

MAY FIND RICH VEIN
Now Indians have discovered gold in the area into which the mysterious prospector disappeared yearly. The new strike is around Fallen Timber Creek. As it progresses someone may stumble on the dead man's El Dorado.

The prospector died five years ago. Many gold searches have entered the territory since then, but returned disappointed. The Indians are staking their claims at the headwaters of Fallen Timber Creek. They refuse to reveal anything about their find.

Hamilton, Ont., Oct. 8.—The first annual convention of the Citizens' Research Institute of Canada was in session here to-day with George Hurst, Toronto, presiding.

At the opening meeting yesterday Mr. Hurst, chairman of the Canadian municipal assessors' committee, spoke briefly on this phase of municipal service, pointing out no public official was vested with such powers as an assessor.

D. Stanley Gemmell, assessor and tax collector of Saskatoon, Sask., spoke on inter-provincial standardization of assessment practice and legislation, also leading a round-table discussion on that subject.

PLOUGH OPERATED BY RADIO AS CROWD OF EXPERTS WATCH

Canadian Press
Noblesville, Ind., Oct. 8.—It may not be long now before farmers throughout the United States will be doing their ploughing by radio.

J. J. Lynch of Miles City, Mont., demonstrated this possibility yesterday by ploughing around a thirty-acre field with a tractor operated by radio. Two hundred expert electricians, radio operators and business men from most of the central states witnessed the demonstration. They said it was the first time in history that a tractor, so operated, had actually ploughed ground.

The machine carried three fourteen-inch ploughs with a keyboard operated in an automobile thirty feet behind the tractor. Lynch started the tractor, with one key, adjusted the clutch with another, guided it with a third, and regulated the speed of the engine with still another.

LIPTON FUNERAL HELD AT GLASGOW

Glasgow, Scotland, Oct. 8.—Sir Thomas Lipton's native city paid homage yesterday at a funeral service in St. George's Church.

Long lines of Glasgow folk filed past the bier, mingling with many of the closer friends of the late merchant and yachtsman. Interment was in the obscure little cemetery where the bodies of his parents are buried.

There were tributes from all parts of the world—floral anchors, shamrocks, Irish harps and lifebuoys. One of the most unusual was a model in flowers of the Leviathan, sent by the captain and crew of the liner.

The partridge is the most widely distributed of upland birds in Canada.

WILL NOT VISIT CANADA

Ottawa, Oct. 8.—Premier Laval of France will be unable to visit Canada during his coming trip to New York and Washington. An invitation to come to Ottawa was sent to the French cabinet head by Premier Bennett. A reply was received yesterday expressing the regret of Premier Laval that he would be unable to accept the invitation.

GREAT LAKES LOW

Ottawa, Oct. 8.—Water levels in the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River during September were generally lower than for any similar period since 1860, according to a report of the Canadian hydrographic service of the Department of Marine. The September level in Montreal Harbor was below the previous record for the same month since 1860.

MACDONALD GIVES ELECTION TALK BY RADIO

Premier Asks For Support For Ministry in Balancing Britain's Trade

Canadian and Associated Press Cables
London, Oct. 8.—Britain's financial crisis—and its significance—were outlined at the humblest wage-earner yesterday evening when Premier MacDonald fired the opening gun of his general election campaign in a radio appeal for support of the National Government.

The man in the street, he said, might now be aware of the results of an unfavorable trade balance, but it was certain that unless the excess of imports over exports was stopped "the state will become bankrupt."

"It is just like a person who is living habitually beyond his means. For a time he can do it by eating into his capital and after that by borrowing, but at last he reaches a dead end—he is bankrupt, he cannot pay his debts; he is done for," said the Premier.

In order to illustrate his point more fully, Mr. MacDonald turned to the housewife. The time might come when she, having thirty or forty shillings at the end of the week with which to do her marketing, would go to the grocer's and discover her shilling to be worth not twelve, but nine pence or less.

The National Government, he said, had begun the work of providing against such a contingency. It must be continued lest what it had started should be abandoned.

The Prime Minister spoke from Covent Garden. He had listened to the first and second acts of Wagner's "Parsifal," and it was with the meditation of the knight of the Grail in his ears that he left to go to the microphone.

"Good luck to you, sir," a girl chocolate-seller said as she showed him the way to the door.

"Thank you," he replied with his habitual grave smile.

Mr. MacDonald showed no signs of nervousness at the "mike." Speaking in measured tones, he explained it was essential for Britain's imports and exports to balance. He indicated that, to bring this about, it might be necessary to impose tariffs or prohibitions on certain luxuries.

PANIC NOT WANTED
The country must give the government its confidence, and the House of Commons must be so composed that nothing which can possibly happen during the coming period of uncertainty would involve this country, and other nations as well, in financial panic, social distress and perhaps even revolution," he declared.

"Your duty is plain—the nation first. I would that every party would join up and make the world behold a nation united in national defence, but if that is not to be, let the vast majority of the electors of all classes and all parties see to it that the government receives from their hands ample authority to complete the work which has been so well begun," he concluded.

Cordoba, Spain, Oct. 8.—Hundreds of unemployed agrarians were reported to have plundered farm houses, destroyed crops and killed stock in four villages near here yesterday. No casualties were reported.

Madrid, Oct. 8.—A hundred unemployed forced their way into the Palace Hotel in Madrid yesterday and requested the waiters to serve them food. A number were arrested.

ST. LAWRENCE NEGOTIATIONS AT EARLY DATE

Bennett and Hoover Announce New Efforts on Waterways Proposal

Ottawa, Oct. 8.—The St. Lawrence seaway proposal will be the subject of immediate negotiations between Canada and the United States toward the framing of a treaty for the development. In making this announcement yesterday evening Premier Bennett said:

"Negotiations between the governments of the United States and Canada, looking to the framing of a treaty for the development of the St. Lawrence, seaway will be enacted at once. The Canadian Government has expressed the opinion that in the initial stages of the negotiations progress would most definitely be assured by direct and verbal exchange of views between the two governments, and President Hoover has agreed to this procedure."

A similar announcement was made simultaneously by President Hoover in Washington, where it was interpreted as meaning the negotiators would be Hon. W. D. Herridge, Canadian Minister to the United States, and Col. Harford MacNider, United States Minister to Canada.

WORK FOR MANY
Work for thousands of Canadian and United States workmen, cheaper grain transportation rates for prairie farmers, great stimulation of Canadian manufacturing and trade and cheap power for Ontario and Quebec users are hoped for as results of the proposed development.

Start on the work of construction early next summer, providing employment on a large scale is said to be quite probable. Premier Bennett pledged his government in the general election campaign last year to the building of the St. Lawrence. President Hoover, with a presidential election scheduled for November of next year, too, is interested in the advancement of the project.

The estimate cost of the entire work is approximately $500,000,000, expected to be shared equally as between the two countries.

The Welland Canal, which Canada has been building at a cost of $125,000,000, will be part of the main scheme, and it is anticipated that expenditure will be deducted from the Dominion's contribution of $250,000,000.

The treaty to be negotiated between the two countries, it is expected, will be in shape to be placed before the Canadian Parliament and the United States Congress for ratification during February or March.

Telegraph Briefs

Sarnia, Ont., Oct. 8.—H. R. Pousette, until recently Canadian government trade commissioner in the Pacific Coast region of the United States, has been appointed trade commissioner at Liverpool, England. He will sail for overseas at the end of the month.

Los Angeles, Oct. 8.—H. S. McCormack, financier and club man of Glendale, Cal., shot himself through the heart and died instantly yesterday evening in Superior Judge Ellis Craig's courtroom just as a jury found him guilty of fifteen counts of mishandling funds of trust companies.

Goderich, Ont., Oct. 8.—J. B. Miller, rural school treasurer, alleged to have absconded with $500 of the funds of school section No. 3, Goderich township, five years ago, was sentenced yesterday to six months' determinate and six months' indeterminate imprisonment in the Ontario Reformatory. Miller was arrested in Port William last August, after being a fugitive from justice for five years.

Toronto, Oct. 8.—Problem of competition between railways and highways as means of transport will be discussed at the annual meeting of the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce at Windsor, October 15 and 16. Resolutions regarding use of highways by trucks and buses and the resulting effect on railways will be submitted by several cities.

Toronto, Oct. 8.—The Ontario government, Conservative, will not contest the seat if a Liberal member of the Legislature resigns in favor of Mitchell T. Hepburn, M.P. for West Eglinton and leader of the Liberal party in the province. This offer was made yesterday by Hon. George S. Henry, Premier. The seat must be in a recognized Liberal constituency, he said. "It is a very generous offer and I will give it serious consideration," said the Liberal leader, who has not sought election to the Legislature since he was chosen Liberal leader a year ago.

Buenos Aires, Oct. 8.—An additional customs duty of 10 per cent ad valorem on imported articles has been decreed by the government. It will be effective from to-morrow.

Toronto, Oct. 8.—Approval of sixty-five unemployment relief programmes for municipalities was given yesterday by the special committee on unemployment relief of the Ontario cabinet, these making the third list to be approved. With this addition the list now totals 145 municipalities with a total expenditure of nearly $11,000,000 to be contributed by the Ontario and federal governments and the municipalities.

North Bay, Ont., Oct. 8.—Direct telephone and telegraph communication with Moose Harbor, Ont., will be possible by the end of the week. Poles are now erected as far as the terminal, and wires will be strung by Saturday, completing the hook-up.

Winnipeg, Oct. 8.—Unemployment, money troubles and depression in general are unknown in the Northwest Territories, whence comes Col. J. K. Cornwall, "Peace River Jim," as he is known along Canada's part of the Arctic circle, says that up north everybody works, money is not used and depression has not been noticed. "Folks who do not work would starve in the Territories, so they do not travel up there," he said here, en route from Great Bear Lake to Toronto. "Money does not matter, because barter is the rule. Even if furs are not as valuable as before, the vegetable crop along the Mackenzie River is the best in years, and meat is plentiful."

BETTER LIGHTING MEANS BETTER BUSINESS

for better business

Merchants! Advertise with light. Light up your stores! Light up your windows! If trade has veered away for some reason from your vicinity, bring it back with good illumination. It never fails to pay large dividends.

Holiday shoppers are beginning to look around now, especially at night. Don't depend on the window trim alone. Light up! Light attracts customers, and your merchandise can be made to look at its very best under clear, sparkling electric light, if your fixtures are properly placed.

If you are of the opinion that your present lighting arrangements are unsuitable, call in and talk it over with us. We will be glad to advise you how you can improve upon them, and you will be under no obligation.

MR. MacDONALD'S MANIFESTO

MR. RAMSAY MacDONALD'S MANIFESTO asks that the ministry be given a free hand "to consider every proposal likely to help, such as tariffs, expansion of exports and contraction of imports, commercial treaties, and mutual economic arrangements with the Dominions."

The Prime Minister declares that the government must watch how the devaluation of money and economies which had to be made to balance the budget affect the lives of the people, and take every step which can be made effective to protect them against exploitation. "It must be made plain, however, that whilst everything possible will be done to meet hardship, the budget must not be allowed to slip into deficits." The manifesto then goes on to say that "the possibility of home and imperial development in all its aspects must be studied. The government is to be comprehensively national, not sectional, that is the obligation which it is to keep before it. In these days of transition and uncertainty we must all pull together, and by our co-operation now strive to put a new spirit of energy and hope into our people."

An election, of the result of which there must be no uncertainty, Mr. MacDonald proceeds, "is also necessary to demonstrate to the whole world the determination of the British people to stand by each other in a time of national difficulty, and to support any measures required for placing themselves and their credit in an unassailable position."

Mr. Arthur Henderson, as the leader of the principal opposition forces, replies to the Prime Minister with the charge that the government has no policy to submit to the people, that it merely asks for blank cheques. While the charge may have force in some respects, the difficulty in laying down a hard and fast policy lies in the fact that conditions continue to change with such startling rapidity that a course considered good business one day may be practically useless the next. Under normal conditions, of course, no request for so much authority would be made. But this is a time of exceptional emergency, demanding the application of unfamiliar methods of handling the nation's business. The personnel of the emergency cabinet, moreover, should be sufficient guarantee to the electorate that it will be guided only by what it considers the requirements of the situation as it develops from day to day.

It is not difficult to understand the confusion of the public mind. Nomination day may clarify the situation somewhat. The respective statements of Mr. Baldwin and Sir Herbert Samuel may or may not throw some light on the Prime Minister's manifesto, which, after all, is a "leave-it-to-us" appeal. This, however, is highly problematical, since it may be assumed that, having decided to go to the country as a National government under the leadership of Mr. MacDonald, the three party statements would conform with one another on general principles. Meanwhile, the electorate is naturally doing a good deal of thinking on its own account.

NOT EQUAL TO THE TASK?

ATTORNEY-GENERAL POOLEY COMPLAINS that Mr. Pattullo is not doing anything to help the present government in a time of distress in a manner such as the political leaders of Great Britain are doing. He says "let us, in this province, which has so much to win by united effort, get behind the wheel and follow the lead set in the Old Land and forget party strife in an earnest endeavor to better conditions." The Attorney-General also accuses the leader of the opposition of preaching "blue ruin."

The Times does not pretend to know what is behind Mr. Pooley's apology for the administration of which he is a member. We do not know what the Premier thinks about it. There does not seem to be any public record of an invitation to Mr. Pattullo to give the government the benefit of his experience. Indeed, only the other day Dr. Tolmie attacked the opposition leader with all his artillery, cavalry and infantry, and, presumably, disposed of his opponent to his own complete satisfaction. Why does the Attorney-General produce a white flag so soon afterward? Has Finance Minister Jones whispered the size of the deficit in his ear?

Hon. Mr. Pooley's reference to the alleged preaching of "blue ruin" is interesting. Apart from the fact that Mr. Pattullo is one of British Columbia's most optimistic public leaders, we recall the fact that the gentlemen who compose the present provincial government are the same gentlemen who figuratively wrapped the whole province in a layer of the heaviest crape in the summer of 1928. From every platform rang the charge that the policies of successive Liberal administrations had sent a steady stream of the flower of British Columbia's young manhood and young womanhood to the United States. They could find nothing right with the province. About the only thing for which they did not place the blame at the government's door in a fantastic verbal picture of desolation was the variable mood of the weather at certain seasons of the year.

TOWARDS THE NEXT CLIMAX

IF ONE OF THOSE RELIEF "ACTION maps" of Europe, such as used in the films, were produced to throw on the screen a moving record of international political activities during recent months, the action would largely be represented by the flitting from capital to capital, like purposeful bees, of a dozen key statesmen and financiers.

From London, Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson and the First Lord of the Admiralty led off the chain of moves, going to Rome and Paris to bring harmony out of the Franco-Italian naval competition dispute. Then Premier Ramsay MacDonald made his visit to Berlin, which was returned in London by Chancellor Brüning and Foreign Minister Julius Curtius, who later turned up in Paris. Silent representatives of foreign offices crossed the Atlantic, bringing as recruits to those keeping the paths beaten between the capitals of Europe, Secretary of State Stimson and Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon, from Washington.

While the statesmen were thus on the move, the financiers were not spending the summer at home. Dr. Hans Luther, president of the Reichsbank, Mr. Montagu Norman of the Bank of England, and M. Clement Moret of the Bank of France flitted between their financial centres. Then Mr. Norman unexpectedly appeared at a resort in Nova Scotia, for which place officials of the Federal Reserve Bank in New York and Washington immediately purchased railroad tickets.

Wherever the routes of these commuters crossed, there have been conferences productive of still more extended activity, and the chain of moves has by no means reached its last link. Premier Laval and M. Briand have just concluded their visit to Berlin—an event which would have been considered impossible a year or so ago—and the next move in the international relief camp is to be the crossing of the Atlantic by Premier Laval to meet President Hoover in Washington. From Paris comes the list of objects of Premier Laval's visit, first of which is: "To explain the unchanging French attitude of demanding security before arms reduction." Lord Reading's visit to the Quai d'Orsay yesterday likewise is significant.

The havoc threatened to the whole economic structure of Europe by the war debts kept the griddle of the nations hot up to the time of the Disarmament Conference, toward which the statesmen and financiers are working in their continued commuting. Disarmament—the companion problem of the war debts—is now generating the heat for the griddle.

"Assurance that international political relations are re-established on the basis of mutual confidence," in the words of the Wiggan report on the finances of Europe for the Bank of International Settlements, "is the sine qua non of economic recovery." The measure of such mutual confidence, of course, will be the degree of disarmament to which the spokesmen of the nations will consent. Economic pressure is now driving them toward a moratorium in armaments to correspond, as a second climax of achievement in international affairs, to the war debts and reparations moratorium of last June.

TO DREAM OF RICHES

IN MISSISSIPPI THERE IS A SEVENTY-five-year-old lady who is suing for a share in New York's $50,000,000 Wendel estate; and the other day, talking about the lawsuit, she remarked plaintively, "I wish I was younger, if I'm going to get the money."

There is something very human about that remark, and something rather pathetic. To come into great wealth is the buried dream of many; but they want it while they still have desires to satisfy and dreams to fulfill and years to waste. To grow suddenly rich at seventy-five is better, probably, than not to get rich at all, but it is not a great deal better. For youth is not on the market, and when the last flicker of youth has vanished there is not a great deal else that the ordinary person wants to buy.

Indeed, this attitude explains a great deal. It explains why get-rich-quick schemes always have flourished, and always will. It explains why there are always plenty of people to buy lottery tickets, and dream of the lucky stroke of chance that may enrich them. It explains why some decent young men occasionally turn into embezzlers and defrauders. It explains why a gold rush will recruit men from all over the world.

An industrious and gifted man can very often make a huge fortune in business. But he can not make it all at once, and that is the whole trouble. For, when he dreams about being rich, he does not put it far in the future. He wants it at once while he has vigor and long years and bright hopes to squander. The long climb up the ladder, looked at from that angle, sometimes seems impossibly tedious.

And this is true, too, whether one's desires are noble or base. The man to whom a fortune is only a means for gratifying his appetites will quite naturally want the money while he is young; but so, too, will the person who wants money for the leisure it will bring him, for the release that it will mean from petty cares and mean demands, for the doors that it will open to the things of the spirit.

That, of course, is where life always seems hard and cruel to those who crave riches. Unless a man is the especial favorite of the gods, things will not work out as he wishes. He dreams of money, which is another way of saying that he dreams of complete freedom; but he has to put in long years of service first, and if he can not find his compensations in serving, he is out of luck. Riches and youth do not go hand in hand.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE CARRYING OF FIREARMS
The London Free Press

Despite the fact that there is a law in New York State against the carrying of guns, the New York police make the astonishing statement that there are 150,000 revolvers in the hands of gangsters in that city. It is no wonder that there are murders. The possession of a gun is an incentive to shooting. A man who carries a gun is going to use it. It is too handy. Yet there are American papers, including The Rocky Mountain News of Denver, which argue that the remedy is to make the acquisition of firearms easier. Arm the public and let it shoot it out with the gangsters in their argument.

THE PALESTINE PROBLEM
The Manchester Guardian

The growing difficulties of governing Palestine are to a large extent due to a feeling current among the Arabs that if they are insistent enough they will in time get all they want from a government which secretly sympathizes with their case against the Jews. They feel that many members of the administration have little interest in the Zionist experiment, and they believe that the general trend of British policy is gradually to drop the idea of establishing a Jewish National Home in Palestine, which must mean increased immigration, in favor of a policy of keeping things as they are. These are feelings that must be corrected if the government of Palestine is to be placed once more on a satisfactory footing or the obligations we have undertaken are to be honorably fulfilled. It is much to be hoped that the new administration of General Wauchope will succeed in making this clear.

Loose Ends

Mr. Coolidge has another bright idea—a lot of people here share it—democracy proves unpopular—and I am rebuked again.

By H. B. W.

MR. CALVIN COOLIDGE, whose only claim to history is that he is the only man who has not been elected president, has lately been penning more of those immortal sentiments, for which he is paid some extraordinary figure per word. Mr. Coolidge says this is no time for political strife, and therefore the Republican Party should be re-elected to office. We could afford to neglect this proposition over here if it were only held by Mr. Coolidge. But it seems to be held in many parts of Canada. I do not believe you will find any man in office in Canada to-day, indeed, who does not believe sincerely that his highest duty in this crisis is to remain in office, that to attempt to remove him in times like these is treason, and that people who agitate for his removal are traitors to their country. That is why you hear virtuous voices from on high deploring politics, deploring the efforts of anybody else to get elected, and quite forgetting that it is not for politics and their own efforts they would never have been elected themselves, and the country would be without their services in the present difficulty.

THIS ONLY confirms publicly what I have long known privately, namely, that most Canadian politicians have no faith whatever in democracy. They do not trust the public in a crisis, or at any other time for that matter. Those who have been defeated at the polls would never have been elected themselves, and the public must have been wrong. Those who have been elected must know, when they think about it quietly in the dark watches of the night, that the public was probably wrong in their case, too. If they are honest men, their own election must make them distrust the wisdom of democracy. As for the public, when it looks upon its own handiwork, it must doubt its own wisdom. I sometimes think it would doubt its own sanity.

SO WE HAVE reached a point generally where, though we do not admit it publicly, we have, most of us, little confidence in democracy. We know that instead of putting government into the hands of the best able to govern, we have put it into the hands of average men and reduced government to mediocrity. And at a time in the world's history where it requires greater genius in government than ever before. But all the alternatives seem to be worse. If we could secure a satisfactory dictatorship, that would be ideal, of course, but where can you secure one? And even if you do secure one how long will it remain satisfactory? And if it does not remain satisfactory how long are you going to get rid of it? On the whole, democracy, while bungling and slow and mediocre, is the safest thing we know.

BUT DEMOCRACY, to work at all, must have some say in its own affairs. The first essential in it is that the public can get rid of governments, can veto policies which it does not like. But the theory which proposes that there shall be no political activity in these times, no opposition to existing governments or existing policies, proposes just the opposite. They propose a dictatorship of the worst possible sort. Instead of getting the best man and making him a dictator, they propose that the mediocrities which are the inevitable product of democracy shall be made into dictators and their mediocre acts left unquestioned. This is not only bad politics; it is bad sportsmanship. For having got elected by democracy (they could never have got elected otherwise) they propose now to suspend democracy for their own convenience. But mark you, when the next election comes around they will be as enthusiastic democrats (for publication) as ever.

A GENTLEMAN, WHOM I should take to be more polite than discerning, has written to rebuke me mildly for my recent remarks about Premier Bennett and Providence. He seems to think that I disparaged the possibilities and usefulness of Providence in the present predicament of the world when I was further from my thought. On the contrary, my point was only that we had not deserved any divine intervention by our behavior to date, and would probably disregard it if it occurred. As a matter of fact, all our troubles at the moment are due to the fact that the divine has refused to provide a practice Christianity except for an hour or so on Sunday, and have one and all tried to prosper at the expense of their neighbors. Thus no one has prospered. In such a world any supernatural phenomenon would not be appreciated. It would either be disregarded, or a hallucination among science-minded Christians, or explained by science as due to the explanation theory or the law of diminishing returns. What I mean, for the benefit of the pious gentleman who has just written me, is best shown in a play which is now running with great success in New York. In this play, I read, a curious individual represents himself as God come to earth and a number of people believe him until the police arrive and carry him back to an asylum. As he is being carried off he remarks that his incarceration in an asylum is no disproof of his divinity. For, he argues, if God came to earth in human form these days that he preached where the civilized world would put him. No doubt that is true.

A SCIENTIST QUOTED IN The New York Times advocates a scheme under which people who wanted to, could hibernate like a bear for months or years at a time, without harm to themselves. This gentleman is experimenting with the use of oxygen and insulin, by the copious use of which he shall be able to go to sleep and not wake up until our troubles are over.

Hibernators, this investigator assures us, could live on extraordinary periods, hibernators could linger on to describe in their own persons the ways and events of earlier periods. Politicians might sleep until their party came into power again. The unemployed millions of the world could hibernate until there was work for them, and having done all the work available, could go to sleep during the next depression. It is an alluring and splendid scheme, but like most alluring and splendid schemes, it has a fatal weakness; or perhaps you will call it a crowning virtue. That is to say, in these times there is no man who wouldn't hibernate to escape the figures of what we call civilization. We should all hibernate and there would be no one left to wake us up. Well, on a morning like this when I look out to find the oak leaves scurrying down, and the Michaelmas daisies bowed under a load of rain, and fog across the hills and the winter upon us with its cold, its dampness and its legislature across the Bay, then I am hopeful that the professor's scheme will succeed in a big way.

THE FOUR-MILE HOUSE

To the Editor:—At the monthly meeting of the Ministerial Association a resolution was passed to the effect that the following letter should be published:

62 Linden Avenue, Victoria, B.C., 30 September, 1931.
H. B. Thompson, Esq., Chairman Liquor Control Board, Victoria, B.C.

Dear Sir:—At a recent meeting of the Ministerial Association of this city, the president, Rev. W. R. Brown, reported he had in the interval of our meeting written to the Hon. the Attorney-General, to enter an interim protest on behalf of the association against the issuing of any more liquor licenses to places situated on the Island Highway, and to the Four-Mile House in particular.

I am instructed to write to you to say that the association fully endorses the protest of our president, and is unanimously of opinion that already there are too many places along the highway where beer may be obtained, and we particularly deprecate the issuance of a license to this Four-Mile House, situated as it is on a hill and at a dangerous turn of the road.

We feel that the public well-being and safety are the important considerations in this connection, and we are satisfied that our views on this matter are endorsed by the great body of responsible citizens.

H. P. S. LUTTRELL,
Chairman, Special Resolution Committee.

SCHOOLS COST SAANICH MORE

Estimates on New High Schools Exceeded; Ward Four Ratepayers Critical

The Ward Four Saanich ratepayers met yesterday evening at Marigold Hall and received from Trustee William Tones a review of progress made in providing high school facilities in Saanich. Trustee Tones said that the rural high schools built at Kestring and Cedar Hill Road had cost more than had been estimated, because of special insulation and other improvements. They had cost about $8,000 the amount which remained available for the Carey Road school, now being constructed.

The board had also found it necessary to enlarge the Carey Road school from the original scheme of a six-room structure and the building would have ten rooms and an auditorium. This would make it necessary for the board to ask the council for an extraordinary estimate next year, to be used to complete the interior of the auditorium and finish several of the rooms at the Carey Road school.

Considerable criticism was voiced regarding the inability of the board to keep the three schools within the estimates presented to the ratepayers when the by-laws were submitted for approval.

The meeting also criticized the board for over-expenditure on the elementary schools and Trustee Tones admitted that a deficit would be shown at the close of the year as a result of increased attendance, payment to Victoria of the disputed high school account and law expenses, increased transportation and addition of several teachers to the graded schools staff.

The council will be asked to cancel the existing system of collecting water accounts by mail and to revert to the earlier method of having the meter readers make the collections at the residences.

A delegation of women asked aid in financing the Marigold Community Hall and the meeting instructed the officers to arrange a meeting with the women for consideration of the matter.

HARVEST SUPPER AT METCHOSIN

Metchosin, Oct. 8.—There was a large attendance at the harvest supper held in Metchosin Hall Tuesday evening. The Women's Auxiliary of St. Mary's Church served supper, the tables being decorated with asters, dahlias and other autumn flowers.

A short programme was given and included a Mexican hat dance by Miriam Schwarber and Ian Gibson, followed by two songs by Mr. Stacey. Mrs. G. F. Weir sang "After Drought" and "Love of Perfect Love" and came a tap dance by Miriam Schwarber and a Russian dance by Ian Gibson, the programme being concluded by two songs, "Melancholy in the Wood" and the "Kashmir" song by Mr. Sterling.

Rev. H. M. Bolton introduced C. L. Harrison, who presented two comic reels and views of the picturesque West Coast. Mr. Harrison urged those present to use all the influence in their power to conserve the few remaining stands of giant timber which are such an asset to the Island.

H. G. Pierce moved a vote of thanks to the speaker and to the ladies who had provided supper. N. Ashe and F. Prudd also spoke.

Alberni Man Tells Of Flower Shows In Great Britain

Dr. C. T. Hilton of Port Alberni described to members of the Victoria Horticultural Society at their meeting this week his impressions of several of the leading flower shows in Great Britain. He visited the Old Country this summer and among other shows attended the Chelsea display and the Royal Horticultural Society's show in London.

He spoke of a number of new flowers noted at the different displays and went on to explain that with one of two exceptions Victoria horticulturists could show exhibits equally as fine.

Dr. Hilton received the highest award of merit given by the Royal Horticultural Society for seedling dahlias.

Dr. A. G. Price, the president, presented awards for the C. F. Todd garden competition and the monthly contest, winners of the latter being Chrysanthemums, A. M. Scott, A. McKay, carrots, W. R. Nicholas and George Little.

Car Recovered From Bottom Of Esquimalt Harbor

An Island Tug & Barge Company crew yesterday afternoon retrieved from Esquimalt Harbor a Packard car owned by J. Benning.

The machine had plunged over an embankment into the sea of its own volition after being parked on the driveway of Mr. Benning's home. It is believed the brakes slipped, causing the machine to start down the slope to the harbor.

STEWART SAYS EVIDENCE NOT CORROBORATED

Assize Jury Addressed By Accused Yesterday; Crown Counsel Silent

Charge of Attempt to Incite Soldiers Based on Military Prejudice, Defence Claims

Unusual defence tactics yesterday afternoon marked the trial of Ronald C. C. Stewart by Mr. Justice Murphy and a jury at the Assize Court, on charges of distributing literature in an attempt to seduce soldiers from duty and endeavoring to incite to mutinous practices.

Mr. Stewart did not take the witness stand in his own defence, neither did he call Brigadier Sutherland Brown, who had been subpoenaed as a defence witness and had been excluded from the court at the specific request of the accused. Five of the witnesses refusing to be sworn on the Bible and took affirmations. Mr. Stewart occupied eighty minutes with an address to the jury, and A. M. Johnson, K.C., counsel for the Crown, waived his right to address the jury, stating he did so because the accused was unrepresented by counsel.

Upon resumption of the trial the Crown called Pte. J. L. Cook, P.P.C.L.I., and Seaman D. V. Carrol of the Royal Canadian Navy, who told of finding "Soldier and Sailor" leaflets at West Point Barracks and at Esquimalt Naval Barracks. This closed the evidence for the prosecution.

Mr. Justice Murphy then explained to Mr. Stewart his privilege of taking the witness stand and that such action would render him subject to cross-examination. Mr. Stewart then placed in the witness stand A. Hetherington, J. R. Berry, Bernard Beaumont, Herbert Wiffen, and James H. Bernson, all of whom had been sworn on the Bible and took affirmations. Mr. Stewart then produced a document which he had never seen the document until it was shown him in court.

Joseph Beckett, British labor speaker for many years, and the only defence witness to be sworn on the Bible, was not allowed to give an interpretation of the "Soldier and Sailor" leaflet, and was excused after he had stated he had never seen the document until it was shown him in court.

REVIEWS EVIDENCE
Addressing the jury, Mr. Stewart said: "Inspector Mead of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police has stated he was unaware of any of the soldier and sailor pamphlets being found on the premises of the Workers' Alliance. He admitted that he found no such pamphlets on my person. This document appears to be the basis of the whole charge. The admission is important."

"Inspector Mead has stated he was sent after me by the barracks. He was prejudiced against me. I was given a good character on discharge, with an endorsement of Socialism. The military were prejudiced against me. The fact that I had been put out of the army as a Socialist, that I was active in the labor movement and that I had a machine suitable for producing the leaflet, appeared to them to provide someone on whom they could fix this case," Mr. Stewart said.

Discussing the testimony of Private Codd regarding his being given leaflets, Mr. Stewart said that in earlier testimony Codd had stated that leaflets had been found in his possession. He had then been prompted by the crown prosecutor to substitute a statement that he had taken the leaflets to Major Rycroft. "It looks very much as though Codd did not stick to a story arranged before he came to court; he fell down on his job and the prosecutor had to help him out," commented Mr. Stewart.

"Codd was an agent of the authorities; as such he was trying to find out things; possibly to invent things; what he could not find he would see that he did find."

"He tried to desert from the army. Was he a high-minded patriot? He comes here to tell you he was working for the good of the army.

"You would expect to find him a paragon of patriotism; yet we find him running away. It seems to me there was only one concern with him; that was getting out of the army. Apparently he did not care who got into trouble so long as he got out of the army."

"Codd cannot bring a single witness to corroborate his statements. He admits he went over all this evidence with the prosecutor, to refresh his memory. There is a man who came snooping around who says he wanted to do his duty, yet we find him a deserter. He was out for Mr. Codd, Mr. Codd first, Mr. Codd last, and if there was anything else that was for Mr. Codd also."

"If he took leaflets to Major Rycroft, he did so to support his desire to get his discharge. He was then faced with the necessity of saying where he got them, so Stewart had to be the goat," he said.

PREJUDICE CHARGED

Discussing the evidence of Major Rycroft, Mr. Stewart stressed his admission that the accused had been given a good military discharge. He urged that no evidence as to the source of the leaflets had been adduced, and alleged that Major Rycroft was prejudiced and prepared to believe anything which strengthened the case.

"Touching the evidence of Mr. Harrison that he had seen a letter of congratulation regarding leaflets, Mr. Stewart asserted the letter referred to the mimeographed "Workers' Voice" newspaper. The Toronto date showed it could have had no bearing on the "Soldier and Sailor" leaflet. "It was a deliberate lie," Mr. Stewart protested, quoting Mr. Berry's evidence in rebuttal of Mr. Harrison's statement that he had been shown a copy of the leaflet.

"Harrison was trying to make something if he could not find something; trying to push his way into the Workers' Alliance. He was a provocative agent," Mr. Stewart asserted.

The statement of Mr. Falcon as to seeing one of the circulars in the Workers' Alliance was declared to be unsupported. Mr. Stewart recalled that many police and military officers had sought Mr. Falcon when in police cells. He suggested great pressure had been exerted to ensure his evidence would be usable by the prosecution.

Mr. Stewart said evidence by Thomas Vance that "Soldier and Sailor" pamphlets had been read at the Workers' Alliance, should be thrown out. Testimony given at the preliminary hearing was that a similar leaflet, which he could not swear was identical, was hanging on the wall, but the jury had heard Vance swear the leaflet was laying on a table.

NO CORROBORATION

"You have heard all this evidence for the prosecution. None of it is corroborated. All is without foundation. The military authorities were annoyed to think I had got my discharge without paying for it. They called in the Mount Police. Did they leave anything for the police to work on? No! 'Get after Stewart, he's the man you want' was the instruction given. They knew I was active in labor circles; they expected to get a conviction on prejudice," he asserted.

Mr. Stewart briefly analyzed the pamphlet addressed to soldiers and sailors, asserting that it conveyed no suggestion of armed insurrection against constituted authority.

The leaflet was innocuous, but if it was damaging to the state, the state was a major offender, having distributed the statements to thousands of readers, Mr. Stewart protested.

The court then adjourned.

SAANICH ASKS DOMINION PAY RELIEF WAGES

Council Supports Federal Assumption of All Labor Costs

The Saanich Council yesterday gave a limited approval to a resolution from Burnaby Council which favored assumption by the Federal Government of all labor costs involved in unemployment relief projects. A paragraph referring to the unequal incidence of taxation on rich and poor was deleted as being beyond the scope of the council.

The council has $16,000 for investment for sinking fund purposes, and authorized Beve Crounch, Councillor W. R. Woods and Clerk Sewell to make purchases of securities. Offers of bonds recently submitted by dealers indicated that excellent interest returns would be secured, the council was informed.

A grant of $10 was made towards the cost of having the Victoria expert on charity organization, to prepare a scheme for co-ordinating municipal relief and organized charity operations. A letter from P. E. Winlow, chairman of an interim committee studying possibility of a survey, explained the proposal, which would be shared by between forty and fifty organizations.

The council refused to renew its customary grant of $25 to the winter gala of the Victoria Amateur Swimming Association. Rejection of the application was ascribed to lack of funds.

BLOWOUT SAFETY IDEA

A safety flange has been perfected to attach to an automobile wheel in case of a blowout. In such an instance instead of the car being violently let down on the wheel rim, it falls only a short distance on to the flange, and prevents the sudden terrific lurch to the side of the blowout.

GUIDE CAMP IN FINLAND PROVED HUGE SUCCESS

Mrs. Alan Morkill Receives Interesting Letter Telling of Canadian Girl's Experiences

The spirit of international fellowship underlying the Girl Guide movement is clearly demonstrated in a delightful letter received by Mrs. Alan Morkill, Provincial Guide Commissioner for British Columbia, from Miss Phillips M. Kirkpatrick of Vancouver, who recently returned to London, England, after attending a Girl Guide camp at Suomi, Finland.

Miss Kirkpatrick, who is a Vancouver girl and niece of Col. Homer Dixon of Victoria, was one of a party of thirteen British Guides, including two from Canada, who attended the camp. This little group endeavored to acquire for itself a Swedish during the four-day boat trip, but found on arrival that the majority of the Swedish leaders spoke excellent English or French. The British group were the first arrivals at Helsinki, and were joined the same day by delegations of Danish, Norwegian and Swedish Guides.

A THIRILLING NIGHT
"The Danish, Norwegian and Swedish Guides all came in the same boat and it really gave one a thrill to see the ship steam slowly into the dock, her decks lined with blue and khaki-clad figures, their national flags held at the salute over the side, and to hear, far across the water, the singing of their national anthems—one after the other. When the girls started to file off we were interested to see that they carried their entire equipment on their backs. The Swedish especially seemed rather weighed down under rucksacks, blankets, etc., but they are all so extraordinarily strong that it does not seem to worry them."

The camp in Helsinki was held in two day schools, the girls sleeping on straw mattresses on the floor. The first evening a delightful ceremonial welcome was given to the foreigners at Högsholmen beautiful natural park on an island in the harbor. The Finnish Folk-Dance League demonstrated dances in national costume to the strains of music by a Russian Boy Scout band. One very interesting item was a patrol-meeting demonstrated by a different country every afternoon.

NEARLY 900 PRESENT
The camp was splendidly organized, each country having its own group camp, with all the cooking done by the Pinnas. There were between 800 and 900 at the camp. Every day was filled with lectures, discussions and petitions, and each evening a different organization had charge of the camp fire. "Most of them were like very beautiful pageants of the country's history or legends, with, occasionally, folk dances and songs in costume. We all learned 'taps' and 'grace' in Swedish; the latter we learnt in several languages. One very interesting item was a patrol-meeting demonstrated by a different country every afternoon."

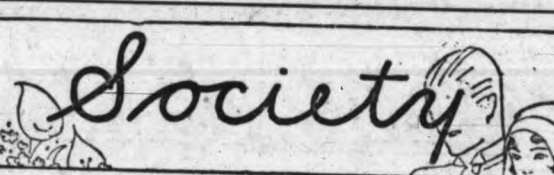

After the camp, 400 of the Guides were taken on a three-day trip to various places of interest in Finland, the girls living on a special train throughout that time. Miss Kirkpatrick was much struck with the interest of the general public in Guiding. One evening an international camp-fire was held in the courtyard of a thirteenth-century castle at Olofburg, a Swedish fortress, built on an island.

The interesting people the writer met was a Danish commissioner who runs a blind Guide colony, and another Dane who has deaf Guides. There is no lone branch in any of the Scandinavian countries and Miss Kirkpatrick told a Norwegian commissioner, who is anxious to start them in Norway, of the work of the Lone Guides in British Columbia.

WEALTHY SPORTSMAN AND BRIDE

Though he is heir to one of the nation's greatest fortunes, the utmost simplicity marked the wedding of Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney to Miss Gladys Crowley Hopkins at Stratford, Pa. Here the young New York sportsman, son of the late Harry Payne Whitney, is shown with his bride after the ceremony. Instead of the conventional white, she wore a tinted gown and the bridegroom's wedding outfit was an ordinary business suit.

Society

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Reford of Montreal, have arrived in Victoria for a short period, and are guests at the Empress Hotel.

Mrs. F. W. E. Gregory left yesterday afternoon for Everett, Wash., where she will be the guest of Dr. and Mrs. B. B. Ames.

Mrs. M. Aubrey Kent, Niagara Street, who has been visiting with friends and relatives in Seattle and Vancouver, has returned to her home in Victoria.

Mrs. J. W. Kerr of Vancouver, who is visiting in Victoria as the guest of Mrs. J. O. Graham, St. Charles Street, will leave on Sunday afternoon for her home on the mainland.

Mrs. S. L. Howe, Beach Drive, who went over to the mainland on Tuesday to attend the opening of the new parish hall at Stevenson, returned to her home in Victoria this afternoon.

Mrs. Herrick McGregor has left for San Francisco, where she will spend several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Wheatley, widow of the late Mr. Cyril H. Wheatley.

Mrs. Mackay Smith of Vancouver, who has been spending the last two months in Victoria as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Cochrane, Linden Avenue, returned to her home on the mainland yesterday afternoon.

Among those arriving to-day on the Aorangi is Miss Margaret McIntosh, R.N., daughter of Dr. J. W. McIntosh, medical health officer of Vancouver. During the three years Miss McIntosh has been away, she has travelled extensively in France, England and Scotland, after which she went to Australia and New Zealand, where she spent the greater portion of her time.

Under the auspices of the social committee, Lake Hill Community Centre, held their opening dance yesterday evening, with over 100 guests in attendance. A three-piece orchestra provided the music and generously responded to repeated encores demanded by the dancers. Supper was served by the committee from tables daintily arranged with vases of cosmos. The next dance will be held in two weeks' time, and will be a novelty and frolic dance.

Of considerable interest to Victoria, the wedding of Miss Emma Louise Paulsworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Paulsworth of New York City, and Mr. Leslie Ronald Grant, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Grant of Victoria, grandson of the late Mr. David Spencer and Mrs. Spencer of "Llandarwen," Moss Street, took place in New York recently, where Mr. Grant, who has completed a course of business administration at the university, has resided for the past two years. Mr. Grant is also a graduate of the University of Washington and two years ago resided in this city.

COL. G. O. FALLIS TO LECTURE FOR WORKROOM FUND

Noted Vancouver "Padre" to Speak on "Can Great Britain Survive?"

With over eighty women applying for work on each of the three days since it was opened, the recently-established workroom for needy women has proved beyond a doubt that it is filling an important need in the community. But the sponsors, who had not anticipated such an overwhelming rush of applicants for work in return for the small pay offered, are faced with the problem of raising funds if the venture is to be carried on throughout the winter months.

Col. the Rev. G. O. Fallis, well-known Vancouver minister, former war padre, and eloquent speaker, recently gave a lecture in Vancouver in aid of the unemployed relief fund. He spoke on the topic, "Will Great Britain Survive?" basing his remarks on his observations during a recent extended visit to Europe. So popular was his address, which was heard by over 2,000 people in the main hall, that the women's workroom committee has invited him to come to Victoria to repeat the address.

It will be given at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Thursday evening, October 22, at 8.30 o'clock. Popular prices will be charged, and, as the manager of the theatre has made a very handsome concession in view of the beneficiary cause, the women hope to raise a substantial sum for the workroom committee as a result. Tickets for the lecture will be available shortly, and it is hoped that those who are sympathetic to the workroom project, which was established to help needy women who were willing to give some return for assistance, will patronize the affair with their accustomed readiness.

The women's workroom committee will meet this evening at the Y.W.C.A. at 8.30 o'clock to discuss organization, policy and other matters of importance. All members are urged to attend.

National I.O.D.E. Endorses Plea For Disarmament

Canadian Press

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 8.—Meeting here yesterday, the national executive of the Imperial Daughters of the Empire endorsed the petition for world disarmament being circulated by the League of Nations Society in Canada. The petition will be sent to all chapters of the order with the endorsement of the executive.

Bursary holders this year in the various provinces, awarded under conditions of the war memorial of the order, were announced. Those in western provinces include: British Columbia: Patricia Campbell and Robert D. Walker, who will attend University of British Columbia.

All bursary holders are the children of soldiers who died in the Great War or who died as a result of war injuries.

Rev. Brother Noonan, an outstanding Irish educationalist, superintendent-general of the well-known teaching order, the Irish Christian Brothers, is spending a few days here in the course of his quinquennial visitation of all the schools of the order on this continent. He has held many important offices in Catholic schools and colleges, having been on the Senate of the Royal University of Ireland, at Cork, and has written several textbooks on the subject of mathematics. While here he has been conducting examinations at St. Louis College.

Mrs. A. S. Denny threw open her home on Crescent Road yesterday afternoon for a bridge party and tea under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Hollywood Presbyterian Mission, the affair proving an enjoyable success. Masses of lovely flowers from the garden were massed in the reception rooms, and Mrs. Denny was assisted in receiving order, the festive of the affair, by Mrs. Geo. W. Baylis, who was convener of the bridge tables; Mrs. D. McPherson had charge of the arrangements, assisted by Mrs. D. D. Muir and the Misses J. Hyalop and Phyllis Baylis. The prizes, donated by Mrs. W. Hyalop, Mrs. P. Urquhart and Mrs. D. Bain, were won by Mrs. T. Rawlinson, first; Mrs. P. Willis, second; and Mrs. F. Urquhart, consolation.

Mrs. Agnew returned to Victoria on Tuesday from Vancouver, where she spent the week-end as the guest of Mrs. James Witcomb. Yesterday afternoon Miss Agnew was hostess at "Schmoozing" to the Camosun Chapter, I.O.D.E., at a silver tea in aid of its fund. Miss Agnew and Mrs. A. E. Hopkins, regent of the chapter, welcomed the guests upon their arrival, and tea was served in the dining-room, under the convener'ship of Mrs. D. W. Burnett, assisted by members of the chapter. The table was arranged with silver vases of autumn flowers in shades of red, white and blue, set amid filmy red tulle. Masses of Michelmas daisies and dahlias were effectively arranged throughout the room, and a popular feature of the afternoon was fortune-telling by Mrs. Scott, Mrs. L. H. Shepherd and Miss Schumann, who were in charge of donations, and a substantial sum was added to the chapter's funds, the result of the hope chest being approximately $360. The beautiful hope chest, made by one of the disabled veterans at the Red Cross Workshop, and containing a quantity of lovely linen, was awarded to Mr. H. Wilkinson, 303 Niagara Street.

OVATION GIVEN NOTED PIANIST AND BARITONE

Mrs. Huntly Green and Gideon Hicks Delight Musical Art Club Audience

BY G.J.D.

The return of Mrs. Gertrude Huntly Green, Victoria's pianist and Canada's too, and the rare appearance of Gideon Hicks, baritone, were certain of more than general interest, and their joint recital yesterday evening at the Shrine auditorium, the first of the winter's concert series under the auspices of the Musical Art Society, drew a capacity audience. Indeed, Mrs. O. Cameron, the president of the society, in welcoming those present to the first of its programs, regretted that many were unable to obtain admission. The enthusiasm that prevailed and the hearty reception given the two artists have seldom been witnessed under similar circumstances.

Both recitalists possess a solid musicianship, combined with the ability to impress their searching interpretations, and the faculty to emphasize the message of the music, placing them in an exalted sphere in their respective arts.

GERTRUDE HUNTLY GREEN

In these days of remarkable abundances of pianism, in all its powers of specialized brilliance, any player before the public must, of sheer necessity, have especially style, versatility, conception, mood and resourcefulness to a conspicuous degree. Technical equipment must, of course, be undeniable. Victoria musical audiences and the whole musical northwest have recognized these gifts in Mrs. Green for some time. Yesterday evening Mrs. Green again emphasized the impression. In a programme, splendidly selected, she sent vibrations of beauty and lofty musical inspiration to her hearers, messages of unalloyed artistic joy. She approaches her music by a highly personal angle, and whether she puts into the music, or just technically, she is a delight to all, and does she not, too, give the impression that the music appeals to her just as she plays it?

FOUR GROUPS

She, as did Mr. Hicks, had four groups in the programme. Her first was the Beethoven Sonata, Op. 31, No. 2, in which there were noble, formal moments, a splendid good taste and lofty musical understanding. This met with tremendous applause. A short sparkling sonata by Scarlatti followed. In the Bach group, which included the Schumann "Novelletto," Op. 21, there were two "Chorales" from Cantatas 22 and 68, arranged by Walter Rummel, and the "Chorale" Prelude, by the great Bach player, Busoni. These were delightful, and of the enjoyment on the part of the audience there was no possible doubt.

The Chopin group of four numbers, "Nocturne," in C minor, waltz in D flat, and two Etudes, Op. 25, No. 3, Op. 10, No. 8, evinced beautiful poetic interpretation.

The concluding number, "Artist's Life" by Strauss-Godowsky, was a brilliant exposition of technique, and as in the Chopin group, with another study, so was she again brought to the platform, but in place of accepting her recall, Mrs. Green beckoned Mr. Hicks to appear with her, and in a perfect ensemble, the popular baritone sang the famous aria, "It's Enough," from the "Elijah," superbly accompanied by Mrs. Green from memory, which brought forth tumultuous applause. Mr. Hicks sings nothing better than this magnificent baritone solo.

GIDEON HICKS

Mr. Hicks in recent years has grown to goodly heights of vocal stature. His voice, always resonant, is of quantity and fine timbre. He was in good voice, and his singing, clear and delightful in articulation, was warm and full. He is an admirable art leader, master, but yesterday evening he essayed to sing everything in English. The two Schumann numbers, "I Will Not Grieve" and "Intermezzo," the two Schubert songs, "Whither" and "My Love Abode," and Brahms' "Severide," were real examples of his singing, full of musical feeling, characterized in the national expressions in the words and music of these wonderful songs. His sense of design has also a sympathetic imagination as shown in the two opening numbers, "Nina" and "Penitence" (Beethoven), the latter being particularly enjoyed and a vivid example of the master's genius.

At the conclusion of these two groups Mr. Hicks held here in the great applause which followed. The two Aveny numbers, "Let the Question Be" and "Autumn," the latter being delivered with splendid artistry and command of his well-known vocalism. In his last group his numbers were particularly enjoyed. Sir Hubert Parry's pretty song, "And Yet I Love Her Till I Die," and the humorous, living song, "Money O," by Michael Herd. These again showed his talent for projection, and a splendid appreciation of their content. Once by the degree of his playing, he placed the platform with a song the also created much delight, beginning with "If Any One Little Word."

Beatrice Hicks accompanied supportfully, and with evident musical understanding.

Numerous floral tributes were handed Mrs. Green and Miss Hicks during the evening.

The little church of St. Martin's-in-the-Fields was the scene of a pretty wedding yesterday evening when Rev. Canon Stocken united in marriage Marjorie, only daughter of Mr. Harry Higgins, 357 Davida Avenue, and of Mrs. Higgins, and Mr. Christopher J. Rhode, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rhode of William Head. The church had been beautifully decorated by friends of the bride in a color scheme of peach, mauve and gold. Mr. J. T. Filcroft was at the organ. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of peach lace, made with a long flared skirt and a short jacket, with a picture hat of mohair to match, and carried a bouquet of white carnations and sweethearts roses. She was attended by Mrs. J. Rainey, aunt of the bride, in a gown of blue lace and a lemon-shaded hat, and by Mrs. Rhode Sr. who wore black lace and a rose hat of lace straw. They both wore corsages of roses. On their return from their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Rhode will make their home at William Head.

Current Events Class—The Current Events Class arranged by the Y.W.C.A. for the winter season will open tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock in the association parlors, Courtney Street, and will again be directed by Mrs. Hugh McKenzie, whose talks on current topics last year attracted widespread interest. They are quite informal in character and consist mainly of a general summary of recent events with opportunity given for discussion.

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

ANNOYING PLAY SITUATIONS SHOULD BE RIGHTED

A mother is always highly annoyed to hear her child screaming frantically because his blocks will not stay up or his ball falls beyond his reach, or his wagon runs down the hill without him. She is angered just to see him standing there, without making any effort to help himself, and screaming impatiently.

Yet these situations often mask more than they reveal. It may not be entirely the child's fault that his anger gets the better of him. So many natural forces are mysteries to him. He does not understand that putting the wagon on a level spot would have prevented its running away. He does not always see the fence between himself and the yard into which he has thrown the ball, and then he finds himself unable to retrieve it.

CHILD NEEDS HELP

He certainly does not understand the angle at which he must pile blocks to make them stand up. That knowledge comes from experience, but these experiences are irritating to him. When he sees the blocks stacked it looks so easy that he wants to pile them up easily. The child needs help enough to straighten out this situation and encourage him to discover next time what is wrong. Too much help makes him increasingly more dependent. Too little leaves him angered at all playthings and unable to play with them when anything goes wrong. Mrs. A.C. has discovered that helping the child prevents these tantrums. She writes: "I have a thirty-two-month-old son, and when he started yelling the moment anything went wrong in his play, I went to him hastily, showed him how to straighten it out, and then told him that no amount of screaming would correct it. Now he comes and asks me to help him."

SLEEP PROBLEM SOLVED

"I used to have trouble getting him to sleep before 9 or 10 o'clock at night. He took a nap in the afternoon that lasted from two and one-half to three hours. Then he would toss and turn until midnight. I knew this was not right, but I did not know what to do, as he appeared healthy."

"About two months ago I said to him one day, 'It's time for your nap,' and he said, 'I'm not tired or sleepy.' I feel often that a child sometimes knows more than a mother, so I said, 'In that case you do not need to take a nap.'"

"At 7 o'clock I put him to bed and he slept all night. Now when I find him getting tired about 3:30, I give him a warm bath, put on fresh clothes, and he is like another child. Sometimes I read to him or tell him Mother Goose stories. Right before he goes to bed his father and I give him some more attention so that he really has two rest periods in the day. Do you think I have pursued the right methods, Mrs. Eldred?"

A fine way of adjusting the child to new situations is to give just enough help and encouragement, but not to stifle initiative. When long naps prevent the child from going to sleep at an early hour, it is always advisable to cut down the naps or substitute a rest period for a nap.

COMFORT for COLICKY BABIES

with Castoria's gentle regulation "The best way to cure colic," says a famous doctor, "is to prevent it." And the best way to prevent it is to avoid gas in stomach and bowels by keeping the entire intestinal tract open, free from waste.

But there's one thing to remember here. A tiny baby's tender organs cannot stand harsh treatment. They must be gently urged. This is just the place Castoria comes to a mother's aid. Castoria, you know, is made specially for the delicate needs of babies and children. It is a pure vegetable preparation which is absolutely harmless. It contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics.

Children never fight Castoria. They like its taste and the relaxed comfort its gentle regulation brings. For many years it has helped mothers through trying ordeals with colicky babies, with children suffering from digestive upsets, colds and other little ailments. Keep it on hand for your children. You can always tell genuine Castoria by the name Chas. H. Fletcher.

ISN'T THIS WASHDAY?

LATER

I TOLD DICK ABOUT RINSO TODAY. HE THOUGHT I STILL USED A WASHBOARD!

WHO SCRUBS NOWADAYS WHEN SOAKING IN RINSO SUDS GETS CLOTHES SO MUCH WHITER! I USE RINSO FOR DISHES, TOO

SURE IT IS. BUT I'M USING RINSO. THE HARD-WATER SOAP. AND I DON'T NEED TO SCRUB ANY MORE

THEN YOU WON'T BE TIRED. THAT'S FINE... RINSO MUST BE WONDERFUL.

(Millions use Rinso. Thousands write us letters like this.)

"Wash done in no time and no hard scrubbing" says Mrs. Jean Cushman

"You ought to see how Rinso breaks down our hard water and makes thick, creamy suds. Without a softener, too! I get my wash done in no time now, and so much whiter than the old way. I don't need to do any hard scrubbing! That saves my strength and spares my hands, too. For dishes, too, nothing equals Rinso!"

MRS. JEAN CUSHMAN.

This way saves the clothes

Rinso soaks out dirt—saves scrubbing. Millions know this way saves the clothes. And clothes come so white they don't need to be boiled.

Even in hardest water, Rinso is all you need. Cup for cup, it gives twice as much suds as puffed-up soaps. Rich, lasting suds. Recommended by the makers of 33 washing machines. Get the BIG package.

V.A.C. Rugger's Smash Through Dodekas For Fine Win

Educated Boot of Shields Features One-sided Victory

Brilliant Half-back of Vacs Thrills 1,500 Vancouver Canadian Rugby Fans With Splendid Kicking in 12 to 1 Win Over New Westminster; Accounts for Seven of Team's Points; Dodekas Provide Thrills With Aerial Attacks in Second Half; Dodekas Prove Better Team at Gaining Yards

Vancouver, Oct. 8.—While a great Vancouver Athletic Club and copper-haired back, "Cokie" Shields by name, were bounding out a 12-to-1 victory over New Westminster Dodekas yesterday evening at Athletic Park, a less experienced Royal City squad provided the thrills in the night tussle before 1,500 "Big Four" Canadian football followers.

Taking the air at the start of the second half, and developing their attack as time progressed, the Dodekas threatened all the way. Of fourteen passes attempted in the four quarters, six were completed and eight batted down. V.A.C. tried two and both went incomplete.

MRS. PARRY IS WINNER OVER MRS. PHILBRICK

Playing Mrs. Sayward-Wilson in Victoria Golf Club Semi-final

Mrs. Hutchinson and Mrs. Godfrey in Other Bracket; Latter Beats Helen Wilson

Still another battle between those old-time rivals, Mrs. B. R. Philbrick and Mrs. Walter Parry, was witnessed in the second round of the Victoria Golf Club's "A" class championship yesterday afternoon, and this time it was Mrs. Parry who upset her noted opponent. Playing consistently and taking full advantage of her opponent's errors, Mrs. Parry finished the match on the sixteenth green by a score of 3 and 2, and advanced into the semi-finals along with Mrs. Sayward-Wilson, Mrs. Hutchinson and Mrs. Godfrey.

Mrs. Godfrey also scored a notable victory over Miss Helen Wilson, runner-up in the recent city championship. Mrs. Godfrey has been playing golf during the tournament. She tied for third in the qualifying round and yesterday she took Miss Wilson down the line by 5 and 3. Today she is playing Mrs. Hutchinson in semi-finals and should make a fight of it.

Mrs. Sayward-Wilson, city and Col. of champion, and seeking her third title in a season, is playing Mrs. Parry today. Yesterday Mrs. Hew Paton took her redoubtable opponent by 3 and 1. It was one of the closest of the season. Mrs. Sayward-Wilson has had quite a time.

Fourth fixture saw Mrs. Hutchinson advancing through a 4 and 3 victory over Miss Benson.

CLASS

The semi-finalists in the "B" championship are Mrs. H. A. Ross, medalist; Norah Wilson, Mrs. Harold Wilson, Mrs. Hepburn.

Mrs. Ross continued her imposing lead toward the title by downing Stanley Holmes, 5 and 4, while Harold Wilson, her opponent to be accounted for Mrs. Seale, 3 and 2. He other bracket, Miss Norah Wilson defeated Miss Forman, 2 and 1. Mrs. Hepburn beat Mrs. Bagley, 3 and 2.

Yesterday's full results follow:

"A" CLASS Championship

Mrs. Sayward-Wilson defeated Mrs. Paterson, 3 and 2.

B.C. BODY BACKS CAPS PROTEST

Rugby Replay Against Dodekas Ordered in Vancouver For Thanksgiving Day

Vancouver, Oct. 8.—Westminster Dodekas must replay the game they won from Victoria. The protest of Victoria against the mistake in rule of Referee Sax Crossley on a forward pass was upheld by the executive of the British Columbia Canadian Football Union at a special meeting yesterday evening. The game was ordered replayed Thanksgiving Day at Athletic Park. The protest had previously been allowed by the "Big Four" League, but this was ruled out of order by the provincial body.

KERRISDALE WILL BRING STRONG TEAM

Line-up of Vancouver Team Announced For Exhibition Soccer Game Monday

Visitors Are Leading Vancouver League; Game Will Start at 2:30 o'Clock

When Kerrisdale Merchants trot out to the Royal Athletic field Monday afternoon to oppose a Victoria "rep" team, in an exhibition football match, local fans will see one of the finest teams in Vancouver in action. Leaders of the Vancouver District League, Kerrisdale have a snappy eleven and should give a first class performance against the strong all-star team picked to oppose them. The match will commence at 2:30 o'clock.

The line-up of the Kerrisdale team was received today by J. R. Jones, secretary of the Lower Island Football Association, from H. Coppleston, manager of the Merchants. Edwards will be in goal, with G. King at left full-back, flanked by Hilditch or Hitchen. The half-back line will find F. Morley at left-half, J. Whyte in the centre position and T. McNeill at right-half. The forward line will include: F. Root, outside left; G. White, inside left; R. Corlett, centre forward; A. Munroe, outside right; and T. Furness, outside right. The reserves will be Hitchen and Downie. Munroe and Downie are former members of the crack St. Andrew's team of Vancouver.

Charlie Lewis, manager of the local "reps" has had his players going through strenuous workouts and stated today he would have a strong team out to meet Kerrisdale. Lewis will announce his starting line-up on Saturday.

Golfers Suspended For First Time In History Of Sport In Dominion

Montreal, Oct. 8.—The captain of the Marlborough Golf Club and three of its players were suspended yesterday by the Province of Quebec Golf Association from participation in any tournaments or other activities of the association until December 31, 1932. The club itself was severely censured. Names of the suspended players were not issued. It was believed to be the first suspension of amateur players in the history of organized golf in Canada. The action followed an investigation of the ages of the personnel of the Marlborough team which captured the junior team championship of the province, played at Marlborough on September 2.

According to the regulations of the junior tournament, players must not have attained the age of seventeen. The Birk's Trophy, granted to Marlborough, has now been awarded jointly to the teams from Laval Sur Le Lac and Lake St. Louis who finished second.

SEALS REPEAT AGAINST STARS

Seventh Inning Rally Puts San Francisco Two Games Up On Hollywood

San Francisco, Oct. 8.—The San Francisco Seals made it two straight wins over the Hollywood Stars in the play-off for the Coast League pennant when they rallied in the seventh inning here yesterday evening to score three runs on six hits off Vance Page for a final score of 7 to 5.

Boxer Suspended By Montreal Body

Montreal, Oct. 8.—Leo Larivee, Hartford, Conn., middleweight boxer, has been suspended by the Montreal Athletic Commission, it was announced here today. Larivee, who was scheduled to meet Jimmy Sullivan of New York in a ten-round bout here yesterday evening, claiming he was suffering pains in the ribs, the result of a break four months ago, which had been aggravated in a bout last Thursday. Following an examination commission doctors pronounced him fit to fight. Larivee's suspension followed his non-appearance in the ring yesterday evening.

As the local commission is affiliated with similar bodies in New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and the National Boxing Commission, Larivee will be barred from rings under their jurisdiction.

OLD STAGERS IN SEMIS OF WOMEN'S GOLF

Two Former Champs and Pair of Veterans Seek Canadian Closed Title

Toronto, Oct. 8.—Two former wearers of the Canadian women's closed golf crown, and another pair long prominent in tournament play, remain in the running for the 1931 championship. They emerged victorious yesterday from the second and third elimination rounds, played for the most part as a heavy rain, at times almost blinding, drenched the hazardous Lambton course.

The two former titleholders who have their eyes fixed on the diadem are Margery Kirkham, Montreal, the defending champion, and Ada Mackenzie, Toronto star, who has three times won the laurels. The other semi-finalists are both of Toronto. Mrs. C. S. Eddis and Mrs. E. W. Whittington.

EXTRA HOLE MATCH

The defender was carried on the twenty-third green before she was able to sink out a victory over Honor Bright, Niagara Falls. Two Toronto players who have known the thrill of winning the closed title went out of the 1931 picture before the brilliant play of the successful semi-finalists. They were Mrs. Ronald Holmes, beaten by the slim margin of one hole by Mrs. Whittington, and Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen, who was eliminated by Ada Mackenzie, 4 and 3.

MEDALIST BEATEN

Mrs. Eddis entered the select circle by defeating the qualifying medalist, Cecil Smith, by 2 and 1.

Western Canada's only "seeker after the title, Mrs. Gordon Konantz, of Winnipeg, went out in the second round yesterday morning. She could not match the hitting power or deadly putting of Mrs. Mulqueen.

The match lasted six minutes.

Entries Must Be In By Saturday Night

All teams intending to play in the different divisions of the Victoria Sunday School Basketball League are reminded entries for the loop must be turned in to the secretary, Viv Rhoades, at the Y.M.C.A., not later than Saturday.

Several squads have indicated their intention of playing, and a banner season is looked for in the junior and intermediate divisions.

"Mother understands, but..."

"I KNOW it's not pleasant to shave, son, but surely you won't continue to risk the respect of your wife just to avoid a little discomfort. I really think Mary has been quite tolerant. Your father was always careful about shaving and I would have felt very badly if he hadn't been particular. I don't think you can realize how much this means to a woman, although before you and Mary were married I never saw you without a clean shave. Now you're getting careless, and Mary is terribly upset about it. She hasn't mentioned it to me, but I know you're treading on dangerous ground. Mary can't help but think you care less for her now than you did when you married her, and I know that isn't the case. Please, son, you'll make us both happy if you're more careful about shaving."

Mother is right, a clean shave is extremely important to most women. A growth of stubble is repulsive and can actually cost the respect of wife or sweetheart. In the past shaving may have been a task to avoid. Now Gillette offers a fine new razor blade, a remarkably keen blade that shears the beard without discomfort. It was designed especially for men with tender skin and is, we believe, the finest razor blade ever produced. Try it on our positive guarantee of satisfaction. Buy a package and slip one in your razor tomorrow morning. You agree it is a far superior blade, that every shave is quick and clean, or return the package to your dealer and get a refund.

MAE MURRAY AT CAPITOL IN NEW PLAY

"High Stakes" Is Entertaining
Story and Also Stars
Lowell Sherman in Lead

Radio Pictures' "High Stakes" opened today at the Capitol Theatre. Lowell Sherman, gay Lothario of many stage and screen successes, is the star-director of this latest pictorial achievement. "High Stakes" follows the countrywide praise lavished on him by critics everywhere for his performance in and direction of "Bachelor Apartment."

The role portrayed by Sherman in "High Stakes" is the same he played some years ago on the stage when "High Stakes" was one of Broadway's outstanding entertainments from the pen of Willard Mack.

Mae Murray, stage and screen favorite, once more loses Lothario of many stage and screen successes, as she did in "Bachelor Apartment." Except that in "High Stakes" Miss Murray has the unsympathetic role of an alluring "confidence" woman out to "take" from the millions of a foolish and aging millionaire.

The cast is studded with such bright names as Karen Morley, Charles Coleman, Leyland Hodgson, Phillip Smalley, Ethel Levey, Alan Roscoe and Maude Turner Gordon.

J. Walter Ruben, scenarist and director of Richard Dix's "The Public Defender," wrote the screen adaptation and dialogue from Willard Mack's New York stage success and, of course, Lowell Sherman directed.

Cook in Leading Male Role

Will Please Local Audiences

On the stage, Joe Cook in "Rain or Shine," broke all records. The screen version will in all probability repeat this story. The film version with Joe

Cook in his original role is at the Columbia Theatre to-day for a three-days' run.

Joe Cook's film debut has been backed up with a picture that is lavish from every standpoint. An entire cast, which includes Joan Peers, Louise

Fazenda, William Collier Jr., Tom

Howard, Dave Chasen and others, can truly be classed as all-star.

COLISEUM THEATRE

Although "Tabu," the South Sea island romance, the Coliseum Theatre deals with a race of primitive people living in their aboriginal state, there is in the film only one animal to be seen, and that one is a tame pig, the pet of a little native boy.

F. W. Murnau, the director, explained that the island of Bora Bora, where the film was made, abounds in bird life and strange trees, and that the seas around are filled with edible fishes and sharks but of animals there are none. The pig was imported from Tahiti.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

The G. Donald Gray Stock Company is presenting for the first time in Victoria, "Pals First," from the pen of

Lee Wilson Dodd. It is at the Playhouse Theatre. Packed with suspense and filled with comedy, "Pals First" is a fast-moving affair from start to finish, and contains a song or two. G.

Donald Gray and Francis Sayles carry the roles of the Pals, created in the

New York production by William Cou-teney and Tom Wise. Mary Moe, who came from San Francisco to play the feminine leads with the company, is at her best in the part of Jean in "Pals First." The supporting cast is excellent. Ruth Keefe and Verne

Layton do especially good acting in this play. "Pals First" will run all this week at the Playhouse, with a matinee on Saturday.

DOMINION THEATRE

Constance Bennett, whose latest screen triumph "Bought," is now showing at Dominion Theatre, is one of the most elusive, exclusive and selective stars in all Hollywood.

She seldom appears in public—never has been known to make a personal appearance in connection with the opening of any of her pictures, and but rarely is seen in the few smart shops where the celluloid beauties do their buying.

When Miss Bennett is not working at Warner Brothers' studios, she spends her time in her side-away beach home, far from the crowd, the location of which is known to no more than four other persons in Hollywood.

COMING TO DOMINION

Women are traditionally supposed to be gentle and forgiving, and most character actresses on the screen emphasize these traits, but Beryl Mercer, who plays a harsh and suspicious landlady in "Merely Mary Ann," Fox romanche, starring Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell and coming to the Dominion Theatre Saturday, is one well-known player who rebels at the attitude.

"There's no distinction to being a dear old mother with grandchildren prattling about one's knees," Miss Mercer says. "Not on the screen, that is. In the first place, nearly any actrix can do such a part easily and naturally. In the second place, there is seldom any outstanding interest or glamour to it.

"On the other hand, a shrewish and tricky role gives a player a splendid opportunity to get somewhere. One can put one's teeth into it, and make the role a vivid and realistic characterization."

In "Merely Mary Ann," Miss Mercer's

idea of a good role is amply fulfilled, since her scheming tactics, which drive

the two young lovers from her boarding house, eventually lead to their happiness.

AMENDING

CERTIFICATE OF APPROVAL OF UNDERTAKING

WHEREAS on the 13th day of September, 1929, the Vancouver Island Power Company Limited was granted a Certificate of Approval of its Undertaking relating to its application for a licence to divert and use for power purposes two thousand five hundred and eighty (2,580) cubic feet per second of water from Campbell River.

AND WHEREAS in pursuance of its application and of the said Certificate of Approval No. 985 to make surveys was duly issued on the 13th day of September, 1929.

AND WHEREAS the Company has completed surveys and filed plans within the time set in the said Authorization.

AND WHEREAS by the said Certificate of Approval the time set for the commencement of the construction of works for the diversion and utilization of the water was limited to the 1st day of September, 1931.

AND WHEREAS by its petition filed the 29th day of June, 1931, the Company prays that the time limited by the Certificate for the commencement of the construction of works may be extended on the ground that the general depression now prevalent makes it inadvisable to proceed with the construction of the works by the said first day of September.

AND WHEREAS the procedure laid down in Section 34 of the Water Act was followed at the time of the original Petition, and there has not occurred since that time any change in the facts attending the said application.

AND WHEREAS it is deemed advisable in the public interest that the prayer of the said petition be granted.

THIS IS TO CERTIFY that the Certificate of Approval of its undertaking granted to the Vancouver Island Power Company Limited on the 13th day of September, 1929, as amended by striking out the figures 1931 where they appear in the said Certificate and substituting therefor the figures 1932.

Dated at Victoria, B.C., the 16th day of July, 1931.

J. HINCHLIFFE,

Acting Minister of Lands.

HOT-WATER HEAT BY OIL BURNER.

$6500—Eight-room house, including nice den with fireplace, maple floors, and four bedrooms upstairs. The layout is very convenient for a housekeeper and the lot, which is the N.E. corner of Eford and Pandora, has a nice established garden with fruit trees, etc. It is handy for street car, St. Margaret School and Stadacona Park, and is a district that is always in demand. The property is in first-class condition, with a brand new roof, oil-burner heat, and at the price it is being offered even in this low market is a distinctly good purchase. Yes, suitable terms may be arranged.

PALMOLIVE SOAP

Palmolive Beads is an entirely new soap discovery! The first soap for fine silks ever made in the form of tiny, instant-dissolving "beads". The only fine fabric soap ever to be made of palm and olive oils... oils hitherto reserved exclusively for complexion soaps.

This new soap dissolves 30 times faster than the thinnest chip or flake. Cleanses at unbelievably low temperatures... 20 degrees lower than tallow soaps require. Rinses away like a flash, in cool water!

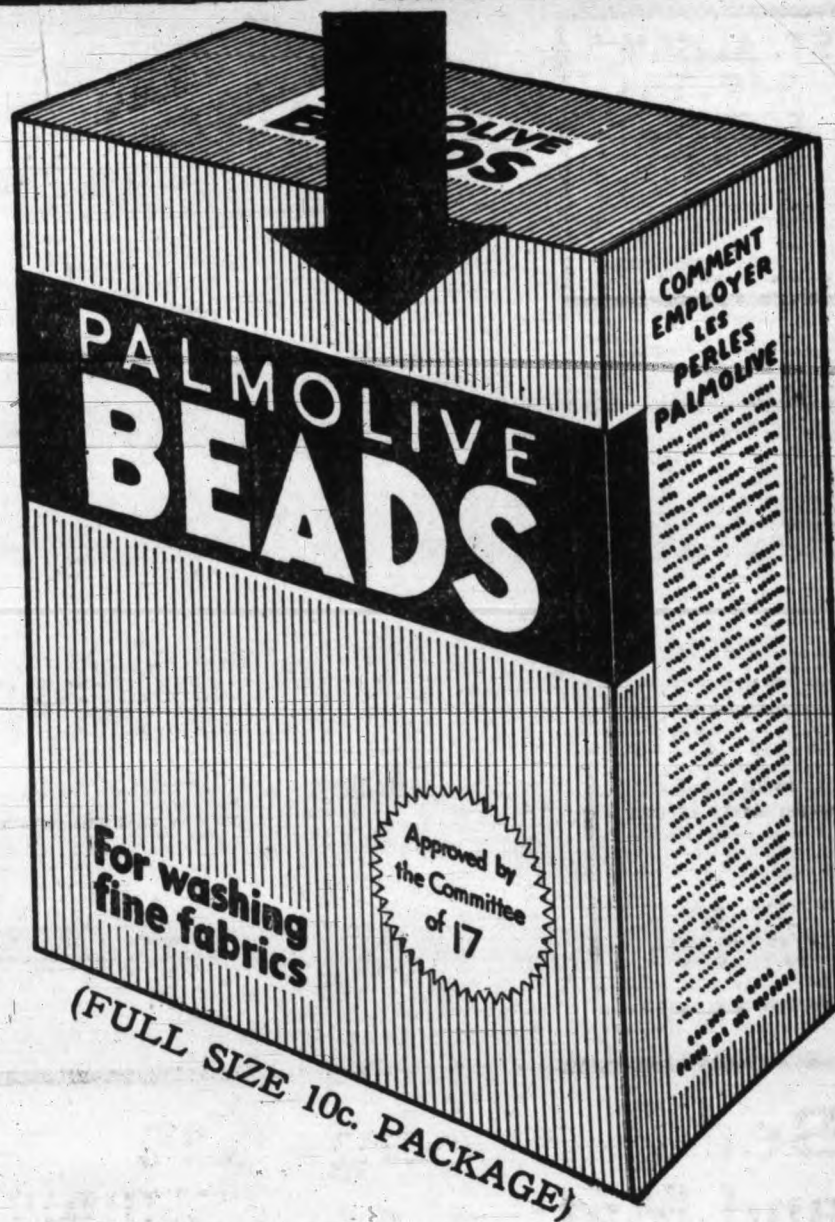

Gives 20% extra wear to silk stockings... Harsh soaps, hot water, destroy thousands of dollars worth of silk stockings every year. Your stockings, your lingerie, deserve this extra safety, extra protection. Take advantage of this remarkable opportunity. Go now to your nearest dealer. Get Palmolive Beads as a gift. Try them FREE. See what this olive and palm oil bead soap does to renew, protect, lengthen the life of all fine things!

Keep That Schoolgirl Complexion!

Palmolive Soap is different from most soaps, in that it contains no animal fats of any kind. Let no one convince you that just ordinary soaps "claiming to be for the complexion" will bring Palmolive results. Palmolive complexion comes only from Palmolive.

Buy three cakes of Palmolive Soap at your dealer's regular price and get a package of Palmolive Beads FREE.

Cantonwine Jumps On Kruse's Toes To Win Mat Bout

Bellingham, Oct. 8.—Howard Cantonwine, Iowa matman, literally "walked" on Bob Kruse, Portland grappler, to win the main event of a wrestling card here yesterday evening.

It all happened in the fifth round when Cantonwine trod heavily on Kruse's toes. Kruse had adopted the recent tactics of many wrestlers in appearing barefoot. Consequently when Cantonwine's foot descended on his toes Kruse grabbed for the injured members. While he was soothing his members, Cantonwine hit him with a flying tackle and put him out of the match.

SAW MINERS SHOT DOWN AT ESTEVAN

Peter Duncan, Here To-day, Eyewitness of Strike Tragedy in Saskatchewan Town

"I have lived in Estevan for thirty years, but have never before witnessed anything like it," said Peter Duncan, retired business man of Estevan, Sask., at the Strathcona Hotel to-day.

Mr. Duncan was an eyewitness of the clash on September 29 last, when the police fired into a mob of striking coal miners, resulting in the death of three.

"I saw the whole show, which occurred in front of the 'Too Hot' bus across the street from where I stood, and I can assure you there was plenty of excitement," Mr. Duncan said.

POLICE BADLY USED

"The police showed great restraint in being pelted with rocks and other heavy missiles by the strikers in attempting to maintain order. The mob, growing more violent every second, taunted the police and defied them to fire. The police were pretty badly used up, as they were directed to fire for the bricks and hurled from the ranks of the strikers, and it was not until the mob element threatened to take control of the town that the police used their guns, firing first over the heads of the rioters.

"The fire department had been called out when the crowd first became ugly. The strikers resented the shock of the cold water spouted upon them from the fire hose, and promptly attacked the firemen and truck, wrecking it. I saw one man fall as the police fired, apparently with the intention of wounding the leaders. At this turn of events the demonstrators were soon dispersed.

The strike would never have reached such formidable proportions, in the opinion of Mr. Duncan, but for the activities of communist agitators who descended upon Estevan from Winnipeg, Saskatchewan, Edmonton and Calgary, and incited the striking coal miners to riot.

FUNERAL ON SUNDAY

The mine operators were prepared to meet the men to discuss their grievances in the first place, but would not consent to do with the men through the communist organization and its leaders from the outside, said Mr. Duncan.

Judge Wylie, who has been appointed as royal commissioner to investigate the trouble, will commence his hearings on Monday. It is expected.

Mr. Duncan, before his retirement, was proprietor of the Duncan Motors of Estevan. He has been identified with the public life of Estevan during the great part of his business association with the town, and has acted as magistrate and coroner.

He came to Victoria yesterday with Mrs. Duncan to spend the winter.

On a charge of unlawfully selling beer, J. A. Dodds was arraigned in City Police Court this morning and remanded to next Thursday on request of W. A. Brethour, his counsel. Dodds was charged after a raid by Sergeant J. Ireland and a police squad yesterday afternoon on premises at 1228 Langley Street. Approximately twenty-five cases of liquor were seized and taken to police headquarters.

There passed away yesterday morning at the family residence, 928 Caledonia Avenue, Baby Wai, six-day-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Quong Wai. The funeral took place this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Sands Mortuary Chapel, and the remains will be laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

SEES GROUNDS FOR NATIONAL SPIRIT HERE

D. B. Plunkett Urges Support of Canadian Literature and Products

No Land More Fit For Development of National Sentiment, Rotarians Told

"By spending our money for and giving preference to Canadian and British magazines and literature and by giving financial consideration in buying and spending to all Canadian interests and enterprise products we can, in a practical manner, support the Canadian national sentiment," stated D. B. Plunkett, federal member for Victoria, in an address before the Rotary Club at its luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day.

The speaker urged the development of a greater national spirit, stressing the necessity of removing provincial boundaries in considering affairs of Canada.

"Canadian spirit and sentiment can only be built and maintained by a deep attachment to and belief in Canadian ideals," he declared. "Canada must come first in our thoughts and not be made subservient to foreign power by permitting the national life of such to enter and absorb our own."

Canadian history, he continued, showed no country so rich in material from which to draw inspiration. Faith and confidence in Canadians, not flag-waving, would develop the national ideal. He pointed out that many Canadians were not sufficiently appreciative of the activities of their fellow men.

WORKING FOR CANADA

Canadian women who are successful and outstanding in any particular Canadian profession or industry has done something of value and has materially assisted in developing a national sentiment," Mr. Plunkett continued.

"Canadian authors should have a better reward than they have been accorded in the past," he stated. "The field of science and philosophy mentioned by Will Durant, E. W. Thompson, Sir Gilbert Parker, Robert Barr, Sefon Thompson, Agnes Fleming and Walt Mason as writers of a high order. Some of them have been lost to Canada through the lack of appreciation shown in this land for their work," Mr. Plunkett said.

Canada's soldiers and statesmen had also won international fame, he declared.

"Speaking of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the speaker said that while the force was regarded with wonder by foreign people, it was accepted complacently by the people of the Dominion.

"How many of us know that four of our pilots have been killed in the nations engaged in the Great War were Canadians?" Mr. Plunkett asked.

GREAT WAR ACES

He then sketched the activities of Lieutenant-Colonel Bishop, who decorated in two enemy planes, Lieutenant-Colonel Colliway, a pilot-navigator, who accounted for sixty enemy aircraft, and Major Donald MacLennan, who shot down forty-eight.

Canadian medical men and women had gained outstanding reputations all over the world, Mr. Plunkett mentioned such names as that of Banting.

In agriculture Canada was known as the producer of the finest wheat in the world, he declared.

ENGINEERING ABILITY

As an example of Canada's ability in the engineering field, he cited the two great national railways, saying no other country could show such magnificent engineering achievements of such magnitude.

The commercialization of the Canadian games, ice hockey and lacrosse, particularly in the United States, was described by the speaker, who felt that Canada should be proud of its teams which should beat Canada at her own game. That was another instance of lack of interest on the part of Canadians.

He felt a little more respect for Canadian laws should be shown by foreigners entering the country.

In some detail he expressed his views on the National Anthem, urging that the version only should be accepted throughout the Dominion.

FINE INSTITUTIONS

"The civil administration of our laws and the respect and admiration paid us by foreign governments should be an incentive and further justification for pride on our part as Canadian citizens and Empire subjects, and any endeavor to disparage or deny the usefulness should not be permitted by consideration of any new and untried panacea. Outstanding among our institutions, both financially and in a commercial sense, are our banks, maintaining, as they do, the sentiment and faith of our people by the security and safety of their business methods and created equally on our part, a consciousness of their responsibility and influence in the upbuilding of sound business principles throughout our whole Dominion.

Fercy Watson, president of the club, moved a vote of thanks to the speaker.

The Lake Hill Women's Institute held their monthly meeting in the institute room in the Community Hall, Tuesday afternoon. Seventeen members were present with Mrs. R. W. Merwin in the chair. A resolution from the Women's Institute on the export and domestic freight rates on grain from Calgary and Edmonton to Vancouver was posted in the room and will be voted on at the November meeting. Every member was asked to prepare an essay on buying Canadian goods and read it at the next meeting. A poster competition, between Cedar Hill, Lake Hill and Cloverdale schools, has just been completed and prizes will be presented shortly. The institute will resume their card parties soon. Final arrangements were made for entertaining the delegates to South Vancouver Island conference, to be held October 14 and 15. The usual Halloween party will be held on October 31, in aid of the Solarium at Mill Bay. Donations of cash and kind will be gratefully received. Mrs. Currie will give a demonstration of Scotch pancake making at the November meeting. Mrs. Walton and Mrs. Simmons served tea.

POSTPONE JUNIOR CLUB'S CONCERT

Out of respect to the memory of the late L. J. Burdon-Murphy, the concert planned by the Junior branch of the Victoria Musical Art Society at the Shrine Hall to-morrow evening has been postponed. Mr. Burdon-Murphy was one of the three representatives of the senior society on the executive of the junior branch. The reception which was to have been held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Cameron yesterday evening following the Green-Hicks recital also cancelled out of respect to his memory.

SWIM GROUPS START AT "Y"

Fine Attendances Mark the Opening Classes for Girls and Women at Association

Girls applying for membership in the special Y.M.C.A. swimming class turned out in such force for the initial lesson of the season yesterday evening that the association as forced to close entries. In the women's division, although several registered and went through their preliminary work, a few more applications will be received.

Approximately thirty young girls, ranging from six to sixteen years, were given instruction and showed a readiness to take to the water such as has seldom been seen in such groups. By the time the course is over they are expected to be well on the way towards becoming proficient and even competitive swimmers.

Fifteen women took part in the senior group exercises. Miss Pat Copeland and Ruby Davidson assisted Archie McKinnon, physical department director, in enrolling and coaching the new members.

Following the classes, the club members turned out in force for their regular workout. Leg thrashes were practiced on the club's new surf boards.

CLAIM HOSPITAL WELL PROTECTED

Fire Warden's Committee Replies to Suggestions of Dr. A. K. Haywood

A reply to points raised by Dr. A. Haywood of Vancouver in connection with his survey of the Jubilee Hospital, was made by the fire wardens in their report to the City Council this week.

Dr. Haywood suggested more consideration be given to fire protection, declaring he had found a lack of knowledge on the part of many of the hospital staff as to their position and duties in the event of a fire alarm. He proposed fire drills, marking of exits by red lamps, installation of portable extinguishers and a fire alarm service.

While the committee endorsed Dr. Haywood's suggestion for a fire alarm signal service at the hospital and added it should be connected with the fire department alarm box in front of the entrance, it disagreed with the investigator on other points.

The committee stated: "The fire chief reports he has made a thorough investigation in this connection and also ascertained the procedure adopted at hospitals in New Westminster and Vancouver, and states as follows: Fire drills and rehearsals are held regularly; the question of marking exits with red lamps is not a vital one at a system of colored lights is already in existence and all attendants are familiar with same; the attendants should concentrate on the removal of patients from the building and should not attempt to fight a fire with appliances of which they have no knowledge. Additional portable extinguishers are not necessary."

JUBILEE LOOKS INTO SURVEY

Hospital Board Appoints Committees to Consider Dr. Haywood's Recommendations

Committees to thoroughly consider the various recommendations made in the report were appointed at a special meeting of the board of directors of the Jubilee Hospital yesterday evening, when the survey and report of hospital affairs made by Dr. A. K. Haywood of Vancouver was discussed.

REVENUE QUESTION

While the board expressed its gratification with the statement that the citizens of Victoria were receiving full value for the money expended on the hospital, the pressing question of inadequate revenue, raised by Dr. Haywood, was discussed at length. For the last three years, it was pointed out, this has been a very serious matter for the hospital. It has hitherto been found impossible, it was stated, to convince the various municipal authorities of the necessity of budgeting for their fair share of the cost of caring for the indigent patients coming to the hospital from their respective areas.

An attempt will be made to reach a fair settlement of this question in the near future.

The matter of adequate publicity was also considered. Few people, it was said, have any idea of the amount of work done, particularly charitable work, by the hospital, or of the splendid service given to suffering humanity. Steps will be taken to make this better known to the community.

The board also noted with pleasure that, while other hospitals are finding it hard to secure pupil nurses, the Jubilee has more applications than it can accommodate. This was looked upon as a tribute to the excellent accommodation and care given to the nurses while in training.

The serious matters arising out of the report will be dealt with more fully at a later date when the committees completed their work.

Capt. J. F. Spring-Brown, commander of the big liner, reported a good three-week voyage from Sydney with some fog in the straits this morning.

There were but seventy-five passengers in all classes aboard the Aorangi. Of these forty were in the first cabin, eleven bags for the Seattle airplane, 163 bags for the United States and 502 bags for Canadian and United Kingdom distribution. The United States mail was left here.

Among the passengers were D. M. Pittendrigh, prominent business man of Melbourne, bound for England; S. I. E. Crouch, secretary of the Seattle Airplane, bound for Seattle; and a number of business and pleasure visitors to Australia and New Zealand. Allan Wilkie, who disembarked at Victoria, a Shakespearean actor who intends to make a tour of the principal cities of Canada; Capt. W. Wright, late superintendent of the Canadian National Steamships at Sydney en route to his company headquarters at Montreal; Dr. George F. Straub, a prominent surgeon of Honolulu, on a holiday to British Columbia with Mrs. Straub, and D. L. Oleson, a business man of Honolulu, on a business and pleasure trip to Canada and the United States with Mrs. Oleson.

Clem Davies Comments World Conditions Before Underwriters

"There is a similarity in the businesses — life underwriting, preaching. You sell life insurance, sell fire insurance," said Rev. Dr.

The angels pushing the people back into it when they tried to climb over the fence. We don't believe those things now." Dr. Davies said social Christianity was the greatest threat to the health of citizens and their well-being in this life should be considered.

"We are living in critical times," continued. "While it doesn't dismayed-in-the-wool pessimists, we also avoid being Polyanna optimistic. We are in a critical time for our Christian civilization, so if

He also considered the Esterline fair was a big mistake. "Why those miners allowed to shoot at minds, as in Hyde Park?" he said. "We have been too ready to 'Lionize'."

After Dr. Davie's address, the thing was turned over to a round-table discussion, and many of the world problems were brought up to do with the unemployed and of the outstanding topics.

Lone Adventurer Has Already Been 68 Days Out From Quebec and Is "Fed Up"

London, Oct. 8. — The tale of an adventurer who has apparently spent sixty-eight days in a small boat crossing the Atlantic from Quebec City, was revealed yesterday when Skipper John Rouse of the Brixham fishing smack Fernleaf, said he had spoken

"We understood from the occupant of the boat that he was sixty-eight days out from Quebec," Skipper Rowse

"The adventurer refused to give his name. The boat was scarcely bigger than our own rowboat, but was half-filled. She had a mainmast and jib hoisted.

"Her occupant told us he had run short of petrol and his food was also low. He said he had no money for the bread we could spare and also some fish. Apparently his water supply was sufficient for his voyage to London, as he would take none aboard, although we offered him some.

"We invited him to come aboard the Fernleaf so he could sleep, as he looked utterly worn through, obviously having fasted a great part of the time aboard, saying he was making the voyage for a wager, but added 'no more wagers for me. I will never do

Skipper Rowse added that apparently the man was "fed up" with the privations he had suffered through rough weather, lack of food and sleep since leaving Quebec.

BURRARD BRIDGE COMPANY RECEIVES $40,000 DAMAGES

Vancouver, Oct. 8.—Following a settlement out of court, Mr. Justice Fisher in Supreme Court yesterday, with the consent of all parties, dismissed an action of Burrard Inlet Tunnel & Bridge Co. against the World Auxiliary Insurance Corporation Ltd.

The plaintiff claimed indemnity under an insurance policy for loss suffered on April 23, 1930, when Ss. Losmar carried out the 150-foot span, south of the bascule, on Second Narrows Bridge.

The defendant has settled by paying the bridge company $40,000.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—Is there any way to make a man spend a little money on clothes for himself? My boy friend is only making $115 a month and, of course, it takes a great deal of that to live, but he only has one suit and that is four years old and worn and shiny. His overcoat is dreadfully shabby and his shoes and hat are not nice. I know he would get along better in business if he did not look like a tramp, but I do not want to hurt his feelings and make him think I am ashamed of him, because I am not.

MARGARIE.

Answer—Of course, on your friend's income he cannot look like a ready-made clothing advertisement, but he should be able to dress better than he does, and if he has to economize somewhere he had better cut down anywhere else than on his back.

It is a queer thing that a great many men never understand the psychology of clothes. They think that it does not matter how they look. They quote glibly that the coat does not make the man and are very scornful of those who judge a person by his appearance. They say that what matters is what is inside of a man, not what is on the outside of him.

Which all may be true enough theoretically, but in reality we are all judged by our appearance because that is all that the general public has to go by in the first place, and if that is not sufficiently attractive they pass us up.

They do not take the trouble to delve down and see what is on the inside of us. Of course, a true heart may throb under a soiled shirt and a wonderful brain function in a head that needs a haircut and a lovely soul inhabit a body that has a dress of the vintage of five years ago, but the general public would be likely to ignore them and choose as companions men and women who were more familiar with the laundry and the barber shop and the specialty shop and pleasant to look at.

Of course, genius may dress as it pleases and be as down-at-the-heel as it likes, but as long as we have any doubt about our possessing the divine afflatus we do well to follow the styles.

And, after all, judging people by their clothes is not as silly a test of character as it seems, for we unconsciously express ourselves in the way we dress. A man who is shabby, for instance, shows that he is one of three things: that he is down on his luck, or that he is lazy, or that he lacks a proper appreciation of the world's opinion.

Sometimes a man is shabby because he is unfortunate. Through no fault of his own he has lost his position, but this type of shabbiness is recognizable at a glance because although his clothes may be threadbare and his boots broken, his clothes are clean and pressed and his shoes shined. He has done the best that he could to keep up appearances, and if I were an employer I would give that sort of man a chance. He is almost sure to make good.

Then there is the man who is shabby because he is lazy. He works only enough to make him a bare living. His clothes are of cheap material because he would not put in the extra effort required to buy a good quality. His shoes are unshined. His trousers sag at the knees. There are grease stains on his hat and waistcoat because he is too indolent to even keep himself clean, and I were an employer I would never give a job to that sort of shabby man. He will never stick to his work a day longer than is actually necessary and will do only as little as he can get by with.

And there is the man who is shabby just because it is the easiest way. It is a bother to have to dress up and keep himself shaved and his clothes pressed and his shoes blacked and so he does not do it. And old clothes are more comfortable than new ones and so he sticks to his until they actually fall from his back. And he is vain enough to think that he is so attractive that people will pine for his society no matter if he looks like a human scarecrow.

If I were an employer I would never hire that kind of shabby man, because he is the sort that will get into a rut and never get out of it. He lacks initiative and push and he will never get anywhere in the world.

Then there is the man who is sloppy and whose clothes always look as if they had been flung on him. His trousers are always too long and his coat sleeves too short and he is likely to have a coat on of one suit and a waistcoat of another and breeches of a third. He is the sort of man who has no head for detail and whose work is done slap-dashy. If he is a clerk, he gets his customer's address wrong; if he is a bookkeeper his accounts never balance; if he is a stenographer, his letters are full of mistakes and erasures.

And there is the man who is always about three years behind the fashion. He wears tight trousers when every one else is wearing balloons. He sticks to shirts when others are wearing cotton. His hat brims are always too low or too wide. He is the man who never catches on to a new idea in dress until after his competitors have played it up for all it is worth.

Besides clothes showing a man's character, they also affect his morale. A man's knowledge that he is shabby takes the spark out of him, while the feeling that he is well dressed gives him self-confidence. Somebody has said that there is more moral support in a coat that fits around the neck than there is in the strongest moral principles, and it is true.

Also it is true that nothing succeeds like success, and the man who wants to be prosperous must look prosperous. Of course, we all ought to help the on-and-out, but we do not. We help the man who looks as if he could help himself.

So you are right in urging your friend to get him some good clothes. They are a necessity for a man.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am in love with a young Chinese. He is very highly educated and a fine man in every way, and at present is the manager of a Chinese firm, but is soon going back home and wants me to marry him. I go with him. Do you think I will be happy?

PUZZLED GIRL.

No. You will be utterly miserable. No American girl can possibly adjust herself to the life of a Chinese woman. International marriages seldom turn out well, and those between Americans and Orientals are found to be failures because every custom, every tradition, every point of view is different. You will ruin your own life if you marry this young Chinese and make him unhappy. Do not do it.

DOROTHY DIX.

Lake Dwellers and Linen Cloth

During a visit to a museum in Switzerland, I saw two "dug-out" canoes which were used by the lake dwellers. The canoes are believed to be more than 8,000 years old. They were taken from mud beneath the over which lake dwellers once lived.

Spreading flax on ground

Many other relics of the lake dwellers have been found in lake mud. These include pieces of coarse linen, a piece of cloth fell into water, should expect it to decay before a time passed, but the cloth of lake dwellers was preserved for a long time—it was partly burned, "charring" on the outside of the helped preserve it. From the burned cloth and other remains, we know that Swiss lake villages were often burned "to the water's edge." Flaming objects fell into the water and the flames were quenched. Stone tools were among the objects which fell. Buried in mud at the lake bottom, the objects were preserved during the thousands of years.

Perhaps stone tools fell on bits of cloth and carried them to the bottom. At any rate we have the bits of cloth, and we know that they are linen—woven from coarse thread spun from flax. This leads us to believe that the lake dwellers wore linen garments. Flax grows wild in many parts of Europe, and also in northern Africa. Linen was worn by Egyptians during ancient times.

Linen thread is taken from the stalk of the flax plant from fibres just under the outer "bark" of the stalk.

The common method of treating flax stalks is to soak them in soft water for about ten days. Then they are laid in the sun for a drying period of from seven to fourteen days.

In northern Russia, a different method is used. Flax stalks are laid on the ground as soon as they are pulled. Dew, rain and sunlight "work" on the stalks. The linen produced from these flax stalks is brown in color, but it is soft and silky.

Ireland is famed for the linen cloth which comes from its looms in Belfast and elsewhere.

Lined oil—widely used for painting, and also in the making of printer's ink—is taken from seeds of the flax plant.
